SLOW-RISE HIGH-RISE — The 10-story Tamalpais Retirement Home, subject of dispute before permission for it was granted by the Larkspur City Council three years ago, has so far progressed little beyond the basement. Developers now predict completion within another year — but on a new basis which will mean no tax revenue for city or county. (Independent-Journal photo)

Larkspur's Rude Shock: Probably No Taxes From Retirement Center

By CAROL MARSH

The Larkspur City Council, which approved a 110-foot height variance and a use permit for the $10.5 million Tamalpais Retirement Home three years ago, may have done so in hope of tax revenue that will never be realized.

In the course of a heated seven-hour council session July 1, 1964 at which the council granted a permit for the home, Councilman Vaughn Marker commented, "I think a good part of this town is being bribed by money reputed to come in from taxes," according to the offical minutes of the meeting.

The Independent-Journal learned this week that the completed Tamalpais probably will be exempt from paying property taxes.

Marker, informed of this, said that potential taxes "was one of their big selling points. If this is correct, it should make for some very interesting situations."

Larkspur Planning Supt. Ronald G. Glader said the news is a "rude shock."

Dr. John C. Siemens, whose position in regard to the retirement home has gone through several changes since the project started, confirmed that under present state law, the Tamalpais will be exempt from paying property taxes.

Siemens, who shepherded the retirement home's applications for use permits and variances through the Larkspur Planning Commission and City Council, is quoted in the minutes of a planning commission hearing of May 19, 1964, as saying the Tamalpais "will be a tax paying facility as it is privately owned and subject to ordinary taxes; $14,000 a year in taxes from this particular project would go to Larkspur, and the schools will receive $70,000 a year in taxes."

Valley Investment Co., headed by Dr. Siemens, was then listed as owner of the Tamalpais. The present owner is Ross Valley Homes Inc., which once listed Siemens as executive director, but now shows him as medical director, not a member of the board. Ross Valley Homes Inc. is a non-profit corporation; Valley Investment Co. was not.

Siemens said state legislation has been proposed which would remove the tax-exempt status of the retirement home.

He said financing of the Tamalpais is arranged so taxes could be paid if the home should lose its tax-exempt status by a change in legislation.

However, Larkspur City Mgr. Kent B. Bathurst, after checking

Violence Erupts In Two Cities

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Negroes hurled rocks and firebombs in two cities last night but both disturbances were squelched within hours.

Stringent curfews were imposed in Elgin, Ill., and Wichita, Kan., after the outbreaks but the rest of urban America was quiet for the second straight night.

JUST A LULL?

High government officials warned it probably was the lull before another storm of racial unrest.

A crowd of 300 Negroes hurled rocks and firebombs in Wichita's northeast district and at least a dozen were arrested. Police cars were pelted with rocks and at least one officer was cut by flying glass. two stores were firebombed and one was burglarized.

In Elgin, city officials acted quickly to put down a disturbance by 100 Negroes. Mayor E. C. Alft clamped an immediate curfew on the trouble area and the Negroes were dispersed after a rash of firebombings in the downtown area.

RIOT TOLL

The riot toll continued to mount last night. A Detroit fireman died of injuries suffered during the violence last week, raising the city's death toll to 41. A despondent Negro leader committed suicide in Cambridge, Md.

Providence, R.I., hit by violence earlier in the week, eased its curfew after a calm night and officials in Wyandanch, N.Y. tried to head off a fourth night of violence by scheduling a weekend round of activities to keep Negroes busy.

Other racial developments:

Milwaukee — Mayor Henry Maier relaxed restrictions applied when racial violence broke out earlier in the week. Maier also moved to cement relations with Negro community and lifted, "on a trial basis," the ban of beer and liquor sales.

Chautauqua, N.Y. — Declaring the "civil guerilla warfare" that wracked Detroit was deliberately fomented by criminal elements, Gov. George Romney last night urged the federal government to treat racial revolutionarie as traitors.

Romney's ringing denunciation of racial leaders who preach violence came before 10,000 cheering persons jammed into Chautauqua Institution's theater to hear what had been advertised as Romney's first major foreign policy speech.

Rumford Revisions Face Senate Defeat

Committee Votes No On Bagley's Proposal

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee today recommended that the upper house reject a bill revising the Rumford open housing act — a measure backed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

If the Senate follows the recommendation it would throw the controversial housing dispute into the hands of a two-house conference committee in the final hours of the 1967 legislative session.

The clocks in the Senate and Assembly chambers were stopped at before 5 p.m. yesterday, the official time for adjournment.

The legislature worked on, chipping away at a backlog of bills under the legal fiction that the time to quit had not yet arrived — even though there's been a record 141 days of lawmaking.

The biggest hurdle was the bitter fight over modifying the 1963 Rumford act, banning racial and religious discrimination in the sale, rental or leasing of much of California's housing.

Teetering close to defeat in the Senate late yesterday, the modification bill was given a dramatic reprieve and turned over to the Rules Committee for another hearing.

Sen. Stephen Teale, D-West Point, a Rules Committee member, said "I suppose" the bill will be approved. Vernon Sturgeon, the Republican governor's Senate lobbyist, remained on the upper house floor late into the night, trying to round up votes for final passage.

The bill strikes at one of the chief objections of the controversial housing law — a provision permitting the state to act against those found guilty of discrimination in transactions involving single family dwellings, duplexes, triplexes and four-unit apartments.

It would limit the law to dwellings with five units or more. But it has attracted the opposition of the California Real Estate Association because of new restrictions it places on discrimination by real estate brokers.

Senate President pro tem Hugh M. Burns, D-Fresno, invoked a little used Senate rule to send the bill back to the committee.

"I think it's in its death throes, or should we say struggling for survival," Burns told reporters.

He was angry over the Assembly's treatment of the bill. It had left the Senate, under his name, as a measure to repeal outright the Rumford Act. But Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Inglewood, and Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, helped completely rewrite it into merely a modification.

Mekong Delta Sweep Statistics: 475 Cong Dead, 1,520 Captured

SAIGON (UPI)—Some 754 Viet Cong guerrillas were killed and 1,520 of their sympathizers captured during the largest American-South Vietnamese military operation of the war in the Mekong Delta, U.S. officials said today.

The joint allied force reported the guerrilla mopup during a two week sweep around the delta provincial capital of My Tho, 35 miles southwest of Saigon, officials said.

More than 15,000 American and South Vietnamese troops took part in four coordinated phases of the operation. U.S. casualties were reported as eight killed and 33 wounded.

The South Vietnamese force, which did most of the fighting, suffered "light to extremely light" casualties, the officials said.

A team of 12 American battalions and 18 South Vietnamese kicked off the operation in the last week of July. It was the most extensive sweep ever undertaken in the delta, where whole provinces remain under Viet Cong control.

Near Da Nang in northern South Vietnam, millions of mortar shells, rockets and bullets blew up in an annunition dump apparently touched off by a grass fire. No American casualties were reported in the fire and blasts that ripped through the dump at Phu Bai, about 40 miles northwest of Da Nang.

In the air war, a U.S. Navy Skyhawk jet was shot down over North Vietnam during one of 145 missions yesterday, bringing to 636 the number of American planes lost over the north since the bombing started. The pilot was listed as missing and feared dead.

The strikes yesterday, which came on the heels of Thursday's record number of raids, were directed largely at the north's battered transportation system. The crippled Kep MIG airfield 38 miles northeast of Hanoi and the Van Nhue military headquarters 15 miles south of the Communist capital also came in for strikes.

Illness Said Minor; Trip By Helicopter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was admitted to Walter Reed General hospital, today, suffering what the hospital termed a minor gastrointestinal upset.

The five-star general, now 76, suffered the attack last night at his home in Gettysburg, Pa. He was flown here by helicopter shortly before noon.

A hospital statement described Eisenhower's condition today as improved but said his doctors felt he should be brought here for observation.

The hospital issued the following statement shortly after Eisenhower's admission:

"He was seen in attendance by Dr. Harold Johnson, his physician of Gettysburg, and his nurse. Although much improved this morning, it was felt upon consultation with physicians here at Walter Reed General Hospital that it was advisable to bring him here for medical observation. The helicopter arrived at 11:55 a.m. General

Hawk Befriending Carries Price Tag

After the hawk swooped the Fish and Game Department.

An official read in the Independent-Journal Wednesday the story of Tuffa, a sparrow hawk fed and befriended by the Alan S. Miller family of Marinwood, and reached for the telephone.

"Either you pay a $25 falconing license fee — or Tuffa has to go," he told Mrs. Miller.

At her home at 598 Loganberry Drive today, Mrs. Miller was adamant. "We told them we would not pay for a license because Tuffa is not strictly a pet. We don't keep her caged or anything like that and she is free to go wherever she wants to," she said.

Said her 14-year-old daughter, Jane: "All we do is feed her when she circles our house and squawks. We also feed bread crumbs to the sparrows, so do we need a license to do that too?"

Explained the situation, the department official gave the Millers an ultimation. Either the family drive Tuffa away, or she will be caught and put in a natural science museum.

"She would be terribly unhappy if she were put in a cage and we would be heartbroken too," said Jane. "Just as many people can see her in the hills of Marinwood."

The family rescued Tuffa from an abandoned nest at Pyramid Lake, Nev., about a month ago. "The only time we ever see her is when she is hungry," said Jane.

The Millers say they will try to discourage her in future — if only to keep her out of a museum.

And as if she knows the family problem, Tuffa has kept out of sight in the hills for the past two days.

Reagan Leaves The Hospital

SANTA MONICA (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan, smiling and looking fit, left St. John's Hospital here today after undergoing minor surgery earlier in the week.

The governor, accompanied by his wife Nancy, walked from the hospital and appeared to be fully recovered.

5 Killed, 65 Injured When Truck Flips

FREMONT (AP)—A flatbed truck carrying a YMCA youngsters' club home from a day on a Pacific Ocean beach somersaulted out of control yesterday on the Nimitz Freeway killing five and injuring 65 others.

Larry Fink, California Highway Patrol officer who saw the accident, declared: "I didn't realize how bad it was until I got up to the cab of the truck and all I saw was a mound of bodies."

Fink radioed for "all the ambulances you've got."

The patrolman said the northbound truck veered to the right and then to the left onto a 40-foot wide strip that divides the four-lane freeway. As the truck hit the center strip, he said, it somersaulted, finally landing on its side.

As the truck rolled, youngsters spilled onto the divider strip and onto the road. None was hit by passing cars, though.

Lunar Probe Put Into Moon Orbit

PASADENA (UPI)—Scientists today applied the brakes to Lunar Orbiter 5 as it sped through space and dropped it into orbit around the moon to photograph potential astronaut landing sites.

"We did it. We came out in fine style" a spokesman for Cal Tech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory said.

Ex-Marinites Killed In Car-Train Crash

Three Petaluma men, two of whom were former Marin County residents, were killed in a car-train collison Thursday night in Petaluma.

They were: Richard W. Thornhill, 46, a truckdriver who owned the Independent Delivery Service, Petaluma; Theodore E. Cerini, 46, who with his brother, Roy, operated Tomales Garage and Machine Shop in Tomales, since 1947, and Edward Angelo Tremari, 26, teamster for Rief and Brody Co., Petaluma.

Petaluma police reported a car driven by Tremari, with Thornhill and Cerini as passengers, collided with a Northwestern Pacific Railroad engine shortly before midnight on Petaluma Boulevard at the Denman Flats crossing.

The car, a witness told officers, seemed to be going excessively fast and the driver apparently did not see the train. Thornhill and Cerini were pronounced dead at the scene. Tremari died at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital at 8:50 a.m. yesterday.

Frank K. O'Rear of Sebastopol was engineer of the train, consisting of a locomotive, one car and a caboose, when the auto struck the right front of the engine. The train was en route from Petaluma to Sebastopol.

Thornhill, born in San Francisco, had lived many years in Marin County, moving from Fairfax to Petaluma about 15 years ago. He had also resided in San Anselmo.

Thornhill was a member of the Teamsters Union, Local 624, of Petaluma and had served in the Coast Guard in World War II, and in the Korean war.

Funeral will be held for Thornhill at 9 a.m. Monday, at the Parent Funeral Chapel, Petaluma. Rosary will be recited tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the chapel. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, Petaluma.

Thornhill is survived by his wife, Grace V. Thornhill of Petaluma; three sons, Ronan Thornhill of San Rafael; Michael

Plans Drawn By Egypt To Defend Cairo

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Egypt today unveiled civil defense plans to counter any Israeli paratrooper invasion of Cairo. Arab foreign ministers ended their Khartoum conference which charted peace in the Yemen and recommended a Khartoum summit meeting of Arab chiefs to deal with Israeli occupation.

The Israeli-Jordanian truce front remained tense following four consecutive days of machinegun fire exchanges across the Jordan River. But all incidents have been minor and Jordanian Premier Saad Jumma declared Jordan would take no unilateral steps to recapture the west bank.

In Khartoum, Sudan, foreign ministers from the 13 Arab

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Captain Jailed

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — The captain of a Russian trawler is in an American jail today awaiting arraignment on charges that his ship violated the U.S. 12-mile fishing limit.

Coast Guard officials said skipper Daniel Baronik would not go to court until Monday in order to give him time to confer with a Soviet consular representatives on the charge made yesterday.

Strike Felt

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI) — The first effects of the work stoppage in the nationwide copper strike were beginning to be felt by the Salt Lake County Welfare Department today.

The strike entered its fourth week yesterday at midnight.

Usher T. West, supervisor of the welfare department application division said about 15 strikers a day have asked for assistance since the department "started entertaining applications" Tuesday.

Ban Is Lifted

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Frank Sinatra, who has been barred from Mexico for more than a year because a movie he made assertedly disparaged the country and its people, will be allowed to re-enter, the government announced yesterday.

Serious Fire

CAPRI, Italy (UPI)—Swedish students from the Axel Munthe Foundation, named for the Swedish writer who urged Capri Island be turned into a bird sanctuary in "The Story of San Michele," battled a forest fire last night that destroyed several bird sanctuaries and threatened others. Fire officials asked for help from the mainland cities of Naples and Sorrento.

Visits Tito

BELGRADE (UPI) — Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie was leaving for home, via Khartoum, today after meeting President Josip Broz Tito on the island of Brioni yesterday. An official announcement said Tito and Selassie gave "special attention" to the policies of nonaligned nations but disclosed no details of their talks.

A Short Rest

KAMUELA, Hawaii (UPI) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey took a one-day vacation today at the end of a 30-day schedule that took him to 14 states.

Humphrey arrived in Hawaii last night aboard Air Force Two and was greeted at nearby Hilo by about 2,000 persons, including seven anti-war pickets.

Pilot Survives Hammer Attack

NEWPORT BEACH (UPI) — John Milton Eickmeier, 54, described by sheriff's deputies as a "brooder," today faced an attempted murder charge for allegedly attacking the pilot of a chartered plane with a 40-ounce hammer 10,000 feet above the Pacific Ocean.

Woods

Detectives said Eickmeier told them he "blacked-out" prior to the incident Thursday afternoon on a flight to Santa Catalina Island off the southern California coast.

John Woods, 41, pilot of the single-engine Cessna Skyhawk, said the attack occurred about nine miles north of the island when Eickmeier said he was going to take some pictures and reached into an attache case.

Eickmeier

"Suddenly, I was knocked unconscious," Wood said. "When I came to, we were diving straight toward the water."

When detectives questioned Eickmeier about the incident he told them he had suffered a lapse of memory that began just prior to the attack. He was scheduled to be flown to Avalon on the island Monday for arraignment on the attempted murder charge.

Wood was released from Hoag Memorial Presbyterian Hospital in Newport Beach yesterday after treatment of concussion, face and neck lacerations, a broken finger and loss of blood.

Authorities said Mrs. Evelyn I. Rooker, 42, Eickmeier's former wife, also was aboard the plane.

Cable Car Ride For Royal Tourists

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A weekend of sightseeing, visiting old friends and a cablecar ride will be the royal menu for Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco and their three youngsters.

Sleekly groomed, the Princess —looking beautiful but a bit weary — arrived Friday night from Philadelphia with their two daughters, Princesses Caroline and Stephanie.

Prince Rainier flew in a few minutes earlier from Vancouver, B.C., with their son, Prince Albert, after completing the second leg of an official visit to Canada.

Answering the same question she said had been asked her for 11 years, she said she has no plans to resume her film career.

Both said they wanted to see as much as possible of the city before going on to Los Angeles early Monday and that the children want to ride a cable car.

Forrestal Fire Inquiry Begins

SUBIC BAY, Philippines (UPI)—The U.S. Navy today began a formal inquiry into the cause of the disastrous fire which swept the carrier Forrestal in the Gulf of Tonkin last Saturday, killing 131 men.

Naval experts from Japan and Norfolk, Va., were part of the investigation committee. Its findings were expected to be disclosed in Washington, Navy officials at Subic Bay said.

An army of engineers and technicians worked on the Forrestal's flight deck to patch up three gaping holes caused by the series of explosions which rocked the 76,000-ton carrier during the 15-hour blaze. The fire destroyed 26 airplanes.

Trunk Murder Charge Filed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—James Henry Carter, 33, has been charged with murdering a blonde Hollywood waitress whose body was found stuffed in a trunk in Room 13 of a Santa Monica motel.

Carter, described as balding and husky, has been sought since the body of Evelyn Roberts, 42, was discovered Wednesday.

Carter rented the room in which the steamer trunk was found and had been seen with Mrs. Roberts earlier, police said. The killing is believed to have taken place between July 21 and July 26.

Tiburon Election Report Slated

Tiburon Sanitary District directors will hear a report Monday from attorney Lawrence Jensen of new election procedures.

In its July 17 meeting, the board set an election for Nov. 7 for three officers, whose terms will expire.

Valuable Jade Objects Stolen

MOSS BEACH (UPI) — Three rare Chinese jade art objects worth an estimated $4,685 have been stolen from the Moss Beach home of Ruel S. Bell, the San Mateo Sheriff's office said.

Bell, steward on the luxury liner Lurline, said yesterday the objects were discovered missing when he returned from a long voyage. They included a white jade Buddha, a Han dynasty axe-head and a figurine.

Would-Be Span Leaper Saved

A 22-year-old San Leandro man who had been jilted by his sweetheart was taken to San Francisco General Hospital for observation last night after he reportedly planned to jump off the Golden Gate Bridge, then reconsidered.

James LeRoy Morris was found at midspan on the bridge by California Highway Patrolmen at about 11:30 p.m. His car, containing a suicide note, his watch and rings, was at Vista Point. Morris told patrolmen that he was to have been married today to a girl who had waited for him while he was in the service but the girl "backed out."

Cycle Stealing Charge Dropped

A felony charge of motorcycle theft was dismissed against Thomas Haskell Thompson Jr., 20, following a preliminary hearing yeterday in Marin Municipal Court.

Judge Peter Allen Smith ruled there was insufficient evidence to hold Thompson of 54 Fair Drive, San Rafael, over to Marin Superior Court for trial. The defendant, who Tuesday suffered face and rib injuries in a jail fracas with another inmate, remained in custody yesterday, however, on a hold from California Youth Authority.

He was accused of stealing the motorcycle of William Morris Burns of 23 Tamalpais Avenue, Mill Valley, July 2.

More than 38,000 computer systems were being used in the United States at the beginning of 1967.

Youngest, Oldest Astronauts Named

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The U.S. Space Agency lifted its veil of secrecy surrounding the nation's first all-civilian astronaut class yesterday.

One of the 11 new astronauts is the youngest ever named, at 25—another is the oldest, at 40. All are scientists.

The group is the sixth class of astronauts named by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) in the eight-year history of the space program. It raises the number in the astronaut corps to 57.

Three medical doctors, three astronomers, two physicists, an electrical engineer, a chemist and a geophysicist are included in the ranks of the nation's newest astronauts.

NASA identified the new astronauts as:

Dr. Joseph P. Allen, 30, born Crawfordsville, Ind. presently research associate, University of Washington, Seattle.

Dr. Phillip K. Chapman, 32, born Melbourne, Australia, Presently a staff physicist at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology experimental astronomy laboratory in Cambridge.

Dr. Karl G. Henize, 40, born Cincinnati, Ohio. Present professor of astronomy at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill.

Dr. Donald L. Holmquest, 28, born Dallas, Tex. Presently an intern at Houston Methodist Hospital who received his medical degree less than two months ago from Baylor University College of Medicine in Houston.

Dr. William B. Lenior, 28, born Miami, Fla. Presently assistant professor of electrical engineering at MIT, Cambridge.

Dr. John A. Lewellyn, 34, born Cardiff, Wales, United Kingdom. Presently an associate professor of chemistry at Florida State University in Tallahassee.

Dr. Franklin S. Musgrave, 31, born Boston, Mass. Presently a physician studying as a post-doctoral fellow at the University of Kentucky in Lexington, with a medical degree from Columbia University and a Ph.D. in physiology from the University of Kentucky.

Dr. Brian T. O'Leary, 27, born Boston, Mass. Presently studying in a NASA training program at the space sciences laboratory in the University of California's department of astronomy at Berkeley.

Dr. Robert A. Parker, 30, born New York City, presently professor of astronomy at the University of Wisconsin Madison campus.

Dr. William E. Thornton, 38, born Goldsboro, N.C. Presently a consultant to Delmar Engineering Co., in Los Angeles. Until June he was an Air Force flight surgeon at Brooks Air Force Base in San Antonio, Tex.

Kennedy Asks Work Projects For Negroes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., wants the nation to launch depression-like work projects to furnish jobs for unemployed Negroes in big city ghettos even if money must be diverted from the Vietnam war effort.

"We cannot allow involvement in the name of independence and democracy in Vietnam to interfere with democracy for our own people," Kennedy told a Democratic party fund-raising dinner last night.

"We must reject the counsel of those willing to pass laws against violence while refusing to eliminate rats and ignore the monstrous disproportion, willing to spend billions for the freedom of others while denying it to our own people."

The brother of the late President John F. Kennedy drew his biggest cheers from the crowd of 1,200 at the $100-a-plate dinner when he deviated from his prepared text to call for diversion of money from Vietnam to solve the problems of America's cities.

The senator outlined an immediate program to put unemployed Negroes to work by providing jobs to build schools and roads, restore parks and erect clinics, and staff the schools, clinics and neighborhood centers when they are built.

He called for tax incentives for businesses which provide jobs and housing in slum neighborhoods.

Kennedy said race riots "cannot and will not be tolerated."

But he warned that failure to understand the underlying cause of riots "is the surest guarantee of a mounting strife which will assault the well-being of every citizen."

Traffic Death Suit Is Filed

A $100,000 damage suit in the Aug. 4, 1966, traffic death of 14-year-old Bruce Edward Higgins of San Rafael, was filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday.

His mother, Mrs. Doris E. Higgins of 255 Canal Street, alleges negligence by Terence Nolan, 14, of 6 Wolfe Grade, Kentfield, driver of a motor scooter on which Bruce was riding.

Bruce fell from the scooter at Jacoby Street and Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael, and was run over by a Shamrock Materials Inc., truck driven by Harry L. Groves. He died Aug. 14. The Shamrock firm and Groves are co-defendants in the suit.

Georgia is the largest state east of the Mississippi River with an area of 58,876 square miles.

Bids Will Be Opened Monday On Slide Work

Bids will be opened Monday by Belvedere City Council for construction of a bulkhead to repair a slide on Beach Road, caused by winter rains.

The council will meet at Whitaker Hall, 3 Bayview Avenue, as community hall is still being remodeled.

Councilmen will consider a request from Tiburon Mayor John S. Hoffmire that the sister cities remove their respective city limits signs from Tiburon Boulevard, between the Northwestern Pacific Railroad tracks and downtown Tiburon. Hoffmire's letter to Belvedere urges the action for "esthetic reasons" and to clear up the "confusing succession of signs."

The council is expected to set a tax rate for this year of $1.75 per $100 assessed valuation, same as last year.

Gavin Quits Demo Ranks; War Protest

BOSTON (UPI)—Gen. James M. Gavin, who quit the army in a dispute with the Eisenhower administration, has quit the Massachusetts Democratic Advisory Council to protest President Johnson's Vietnam policy.

But Gavin denied yesterday he was considering running against Johnson in 1968 as a Republican "peace" candidate, even though he said he "simply will not support" the President again.

An outspoken critic of American policy in Vietnam, the retired lieutenant general advocated "enclave" warfare when he appeared before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee during its hearings last year on Vietnam.

Earlier this year, he wrote a magazine article calling for a shift in emphasis in Vietnam to give economic matters priority over military matters.

Gavin, U.S. Ambassador to France during 1961-62, said his decision was a matter of conscience and he would not try to persuade any of the other 15 members of the state's Democratic policy-making panel from resigning.

One of the other members is Harvard economics Prof. John Kenneth Galbraith, ambassador to India under President Kennedy and another sharp critic of American policy in Vietnam.

Controversy Develops Over A 'Happening'

Love may have been the by-word for the Fantasy Fair Music Festival atop Mount Tamalpais in May — but controversy follows in its wake.

Main beneficiaries of the two-day rock 'n' roll get-together, the Hunters Point child care center, has refused to accept a $12,086.92 check from the organizing KFRC radio station "until a proper accounting can be made."

KFRC says the check is the profit from the festival at which more than $60,000 worth of tickets were sold. Hunters Point residents would like to know what happened to the rest of the money.

The $12,000 is not enough "to even pay off our creditors," said anti-poverty worker Eloise Westbrook. Officials will not accept the check until they go over the KFRC figures next week.

Tom Rounds, KFRC program director, said expenses were higher than anticipated because the festival was postponed for a week due to rain.

Bus transportation to get teenagers up to the "happening" cost $16,000 according to the radio station figures.

Expenses totaled $51,168.87 out of a total $63,155.79 taken in, said Rounds. He said the radio station made no profit from the event.

Eisenhower walked off the craft to his waiting sedan. At the admitting desk he was found to be in good condition and is now resting comfortably."

Eisenhower, who has suffered previous gastrointestinal attacks, arrived at the hospital clad in pajamas and bathrobe. He was helped from the landing pad to a nearby car for the short trip to the hospital.

Capt. George Foster, hospital public information officer, said he did not know how long Eisenhower would stay in the hospital

"He is here for observation," Foster said. "He will be given various examinations and medications. It depends how he responds."

A gastrointestinal upset could be anything from an upset stomach to an intestinal blockage, Foster explained.

Eisenhower was accompanied by Dr. Johnson on the flight from Gettysburg. Foster said he expected Mrs. Eisenhower to arrive at the hospital, but he did not know when.

An Eisenhower aide said the former president had suffered an apparent stomach or intestinal upset with some vomiting during the night. His doctors at Walter Reed were advised of this and suggested he go there for a checkup.

Fire Hits Naval Depot Buildings

The Kentfield Fire District Board last night made its annual review of its fire protection contract for Marin General Hospital but proposed no change in terms.

The board also again reviewed architect's working drawings for the new Kentfield fire station and reviewed the mutual aid system between Marin fire departments.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

8:23 a.m., San Rafael — False alarm from San Rafael Military Academy, Fifth and Cottage avenues.

12:19 p.m., Glenwood — Grass fire at 108 Marina Court burned area 50 by 75 feet. County fire department extinguished, San Rafael unit assisted.

1:45 p.m., San Rafael — Grass fire at 135 Nova Albion Way, Quail Hill, burned approximately eight acres. Fire units sent from San Rafael, Marin County and Terra Linda.

TODAY:

2:05 a.m., Marinwood — Small grass fire at Las Gallinas Avenue and Miller Creek Road. Possibly caused by discarded cigarette.

League states considered a final communique on their week-long session.

Conference sources said they skipped major discussion on a controversial ban on Arab oil exports by assigning it to a special meeting of Arab economy and oil ministers in Baghdad.

The foreign ministers also sidestepped the key issue bothering the Arab world, Israeli occupation of conquered Arab territory. Conference sources said they decided to leave the Israeli problems up to their leaders.

An apparent rapport between Saudi Arabia and Egypt on ending the five-year Yemen civil war was the conference's chief accomplishment.

Saudi Arabia's reported acceptance of the Egyptian peace move cleared the way for the summit by removing the main friction between Saudi Arabia's King Faisal and Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Saudi Arabia has been backing royalist forces in the Yemen while Egypt is supporting the republican cause with some 20,000 troops.

Novatan Is Fair From Porch Fall

A 75-year-old Novato woman was in fair condition in Marin General Hospital today with head and back injuries suffered when she fell 20 feet yesterday from a second-story porch in Tiburon.

Mrs. Annie McDonald of 1433-A Park Avenue was wedged for almost half an hour between the house and a tree before her plight was discovered, reported Sheriff's Lt. William Johansen, who heads the sheriff's Tiburon station.

Mrs. McDonald fell at the home of Mrs. James Fegan at 2960 Paradise Drive. She had been keeping house for Mrs. Fegan, who is recovering from an illness.

Johansen and Tiburon firemen were called at 9:30 a.m. They called United Ambulance. It took 10 minutes for ambulance workers to extricate Mrs. McDonald, Johansen reported.

Driver Reports Being Fired On

Monte J. Montego of 38 Lambert Way, Novato, reported to sheriff's deputies he was driving his car east along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Samuel P. Taylor State Park Thursday when he was fired on by two youths.

Montego said the weapon they used was not known, but he said the youths pursued him in a convertible, firing at him four times.

Sheriff's deputies searched the area without success.

Teen-Agers Cited On Property Damage

Six Tiburon teen-agers, aged 13 through 15 years, have been cited by Marin County sheriff's officers for damage caused at the Audubon Society near Cove Apartments on Tiburon Boulevard.

Fruit trees were damaged and although Deputy Robert Gaddini reported it was minor, it took him an hour to search out the boys and wait for them to come out of hiding Thursday, he said.

NEW APPOINTEE — Robert F. Girard of 103 Wolfe Grade, Kentfield, has been appointed by Gov. Ronald Reagan as chairman of the Governor's Committee for Employment of the Handicapped. Girard is manager of industrial relations for Dalmo Victor Co., Belmont.

Cerini was born in Tomales and lived most of his life there until moving to Petaluma five years ago. He opened his shop with his brother after being discharged from military service.

Cerini was a member of Druids Lodge of Tomales, Veterans of Foreign Wars in Petaluma, and Native Sons of the Golden West, Nicasio Parlor.

Divorced, he is survived by his daughter, Mary Ann Leete of Santa Rosa; a brother, Roy Cerini of Petaluma; his father, Isadore Cerini of Tomales, and a granddaughter.

Requiem Mass will be offered for Cerini at 11 a.m. Monday at Our Lady of Assumption Church, Tomales. Rosary will be recited at Sorenson Funeral Home at 8:30 p.m., tomorrow. Entombment will be at Catholic Mausoleum, Tomales.

Tremari, a native of Sonoma County, was graduated from Tomales High School. He was a member of the Native Sons of the Golden West of Nicasio, the Sonoma-Marin Italian Club, and Teamsters Union, Local 624, Petaluma.

He is survived by his wife, Sharon Tremari of Petaluma; and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Noe Tremari of Penngrove.

Requiem Mass will be offered for Tremari at 10:30 a.m. Monday, at St. Vincent's Church, Petaluma. Rosary will be recited at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at Parent Funeral Chapel. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery, Petaluma.

Legislators Work To Correct Tax Rate Error

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislators rushed today to correct what might have been a $4.4 million tax error in favor of California cigarette smokers.

The $1 billion tax increase passed last week included a total hike of seven cents per pack of cigarettes — four cents effective last Tuesday and the other three cents on Oct. 1.

Fiscal experts discovered that tax bill language failed to carry out the legislature's intent and without corrections all of the three additional cents wouldn't have gone into effect.

The funds are earmarked for local governments and in some areas which already have a local cigarette tax in effect take the place of that tax.

Thieves Take Woman's Purse

Two thieves jumped in the back seat of her car, then jumped back out with her purse containing $85, Marlana Dolores Sherrick of 1931 Clinton Avenue, San Rafael, told police last night.

The purse, minus the money, wasa found early today in bushes at Paloma and Lincoln avenues by a city street sweeper.

Mrs. Sherrick said two men got into her car at 10:30 p.m. while she was stopped at Fourth and A streets, telling her, "We're friends of Rick Carroll." When she threatened to call police they got out and she discovered her purse was missing.

Nelson Is Confirmed As Warden

Appointment of Louis S. Nelson as warden of San Quentin Prison has been confirmed by the State Senate.

Nelson's name was on a list of appointees of Gov. Ronald Reagan receiving Senate approval this week. He has been acting warden since Lawrence E. Wilson was transferred two months ago to the State Department of Corrections office in Sacramento, where he is deputy director of program and staff services.

The Senate also confirmed the appointment of Spencer Williams, health and welfare department administrator, as head of the Youth and Adult Correctional Agency.

Carlyle Reed, publisher of the Sacramento Union, was confirmed as the state's "disaster governor No. 1," under a new law requiring the naming of a successor to the governor in case he and his legal successors under the constitution are all killed in a disaster.

Quail Hill Fire Burns Eight Acres

An eight-acre fire on Quail Hill, San Rafael, was doused by firemen from three departments yesterday without property damage.

San Rafael Fire Department responded first at 1:45 p.m. with three trucks and 10 men, and asked for assistance from Marin County Fire Department on arriving at the scene behind 135 Nova Albion Way.

Terra Linda Fire Department, which monitored San Rafael's radio call for aid, voluntarily sent 10 men on two trucks, arriving just before the county's four trucks and seven men.

San Rafael asked for the county aid to reach rough terrain inaccessible to the city equipment.

youngsters and eight staff members that morning to Santa Cruz, some 100 miles south of Berkeley.

It was returning at about 4:30 p.m. when it turned over, 30 miles south of Berkeley.

YMCA officials said that every person was injured, although many were released after treatment at hospitals.

Some 30 persons are still in hospitals and one is still in critical condition.

The truck had an 18-foot bed, surrounded by wooden upright stakes to which horizontal boards were attached.

M.E. Moore, YMCA director, said, "It's a horrible thing. It's the first mishap we've had in the many years of running the program."

Marinite Will Lead Training Tour To Japan

Air Force Reservist Lt. Col. Edwin P. Pike of 103 Oak Avenue, Kentfield, will lead the Second Air Postal Group tomorrow when it flies from Travis Air Force Base in Solano County for a two-week training tour in Japan.

The reservists, most of them post office employees in civilian life, will help postal staff at Tachikawa Air Force Base, routing military mail through Asia, including Vietnam.

One 50-man unit will leave tomorrow and the second unit will leave Aug. 19. The group has squadrons in Alameda and San Jose.

Arraignment Slated Monday

Arraignment of Claudia Mae White, 21, on charges of marijuana possession was continued in Marin Municipal Court yesterday until 1:30 p.m. Monday.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert Birkie said no complaint will be filed against her husband, Elmer Clayton White, 23, pending further investigation. His bail was cancelled.

Both were arrested Thursday. They allegedly had eight match boxes of marijuana in their Forest Knolls trailer house July 28. Mrs. White is free on $1,650 bail.

Art Professor Talks Tomorrow

Ralph Ducasse, Mills College art professor, will speak on "Contemporary Art Trends" before the Marin Society of Artists at 3 p.m. tomorrow at the Frances Young Gallery, Marin Art and Garden Center, Ross.

The occasion marks the opening of the August Contemporary Show sponsored by the society. The show may be seen from 2 to 4 p.m. daily, through Aug. 27.

A Rude Shock: No Taxes From Center

the League of California Cities, reported such a bill was proposed but was buried in committee and was never acted on by either house of the Legislature.

Retirement Residence Inc., a San Francisco firm which is being paid to handle sales and initial management for the Tamalpais, in much of its literature cites St. Paul's Towers in Oakland and Canterbury Woods in Pacific Grove, both managed by retirement residence, as comparable projects. City officials in Oakland and Pacific Grove reported both these retirement homes are exempt from property taxes.

Dr. Siemens is chairman of the Ross Valley Medical Clinic, which will provide medical services to the Tamalpais, and will be the Tamalpais medical director. James Frush Jr., vice president of retirement residence, explained that since the Ross Valley Medical Clinic will be making a profit from the Tamalpais by providing medical services, Dr. Siemens could not be on the board of the non-profit corporation, Ross Valley Homes Inc.

The use permit for the 12-story building at 521 Via Casitas in the Greenbrae section of Larkspur was issued July 15, 1964, and the groundbreaking ceremony was June 28, 1965. A building permit for the foundation was taken out in February, 1966, and a building permit for the entire building was issued in December, 1966. To date the building has not progressed beyond the second floor.

Entrance fees for the 280-unit retirement home range from $11,800 to $52,600, and maintenance fees range from $240 to $595 a month. To date, potential residents have signed contracts for 220 units, and a total of $350,000 has been collected in application and entrance fees, according to Frush. The money, in escrow, would be returned to anyone who changed his mind about becoming a Tamalpais resident, he said.

Application fees come to $500, and 25 per cent of the entrance fees were due 30 days after construction began on the project, Frush said. So the present total due from potential residents is well above the $350,000 collected; but because construction has been going so slowly, retirement residence has not billed for all of the amount due.

Frush said no committment was made to those who have signed contracts as to when they would be able to move into the project, but the first application was taken Sept. 17, 1964.

Eight of the persons whose applications were accepted have died in the meantime, Frush said. He said others who are impatient to move into such a facility are being accommodated at St. Paul's Towers and Canterbury Woods, and will move into the Tamalpais as soon as it is completed.

Frush estimated that it would be in 12 to 14 months. Siemens said it will be completed 10 or 11 months after the construction contractor "gets the go-ahead to finish it as quickly as possible." He said only small construction crews have been working on the building, because of financing problems. He blamed the "tight money situation" for the project's slow progress.

Asked about the change in ownership, Siemens said Valley Investment Co., which purchased the six-acre Tamalapais site from Schultz Investment Co., was just "an interim arrangement to purchase the land." Utah Construction and Mining Co. is financing and developing the project. Siemens said this is a "turn-key" project in which the developer, Utah, "puts the whole project together, then turns it over to the ultimate owner," Ross Valley Homes Inc.

Ross Valley Homes Inc., which filed articles June 1, 1965, was specifically set up to own and operate the Tamalpais, he said. Officers and directors of Ross Valley Homes are Bryon W. Leydecker, President of Redwood National Bank and a former Marin County supervisor, president; Richard M. Davis of Davis Skaggs and Co., vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth Rudel Gatov, vice president of San Rafael Federal Savings and Loan Association, secretary, and Rev. Darby Wood Betts of the Episcopal Homes Foundation, Donald C. Brodie of the University of California Medical Center, and Thurlow C. Jaegeling, a Larkspur dentist, directors.

Fire Protection Contract Reviewed

RICHMOND (UPI) — The administration building and carpenter's shop at the Naval Fuel Depot on Point Molate were destroyed early today by a general alarm fire that was visible for several miles.

A general alrm was sounded because of nearby fuel storage tanks. The fuel did not burn, but firemen were unable to save the two wooden buildings.

22 Injured; Jet Hits Air Pocket

ROME (UPI)—Nine Americans were among 22 persons injured yesterday when an Air France Caravelle jetliner with 69 persons aboard hit an air pocket over the Alps and plunged 1,000 feet before the pilot regained control.

Most of the 62 passengers did not have their seat belts fastened and the sudden drop hurled them about the cabin, Air France officials said.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY in the Heart of our County

Marin pioneers chose a site in the heart of our county as a final resting place for their families. Today this location—at the west end of Fifth Avenue in San Rafael—is still convenient to all Marin points.

Marinites who choose Mount Tamalpais do so with the assurance that its beauty will grow with the years. The interest from a quarter-million dollar endowment fund—twice the legal requirement—is dedicated to the constant care and improvement of this 57-acre site.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you wish to make your own final arrangements to spare others difficult decisions. If so, we invite your inquiry or a personal visit.

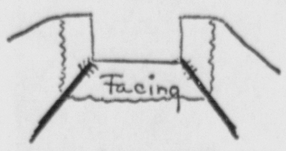
SEW SIMPLE

Making Square Neckline Fit Is Simple With Elastic Strip

By EUNICE FARMER

My most annoying problem in sewing is getting a low, wide square neckline to fit properly so that it doesn't bulge out in front when I bend over and stick out in back when I square my shoulders.

MRS. C. E. McL.



DEAR MRS. C. E. McL.:

The square neckline is one of the very newest, flattering to most women, and a welcome relief to the ordinary scoop neckline we have seen for years. There is a rather simple way of making the square neckline lie perfectly flat in front.

After the facing has been applied to the neckline and it has been understitched and pressed, attach a piece of ¼ inch wide elastic at an angle, as close as possible to each corner of bodice front. Hand whip about ½ inch of each side of the elastic to each corner.

Determine the length of the elastic by slipping the dress on and bring both ends of the elastic under your arms to the middle of your back and mark the exact spot where they cross. Don't pull the elastic too tight or it will pull the front of the dress out of shape.

Now apply a hook on one end of the elastic and the eye on the other. Be sure to slip the elastic under your shoulder straps before hooking. Your square neckline will lay close to your body. The lower the neckline, the better this works!

DEAR EUNICE,

What causes slevves to pull when placing arms in a forward position I end up making everything sleeveless because of this problem? — MRS. A. B.

DEAR MRS. A. B.:

Two reasons, the first: Perhaps you are making the bodice of your dress too fitted for action. You must always have a certain amount of body ease for comfort. However, if you will notice, sportswear is usually shown with a yoke in back so that fullness or pleats can be added below the yoke.

If this is not the case, I would suggest you cut your pattern from the center of the shoulder to the waistline and spread it about ½ inch. Before cutting, fold a tiny pleat at the shoulder to take care of excess width. This should give you the extra width you need for comfort.

Most women have a tendency to overfit their garments, forgetting that the body must have room for flexibility. This and many other fitting problems are discussed in detail in my booklet "Your Pattern and You." Send a long, self addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents to Eunice Farmer in care of the Independent-Journal.

DEAR EUNICE,

Could you tell me if there is a foolproof way of telling the right and wrong side of fabrics by the selvage? I have been sewing for 14 years and still get confused.—MRS. W. W. S.

DEAR MRS. W. W. S.:

Usually, you can tell by the finish of the selvage. The weave is more perfect on the right side. If is this difficult to tell, it really doesn't matter which side you use. The important point to remember is that the entire garment must be made on the same side. When you decide which side you are going to use, I would suggest you use marking chalk and mark the edge of the fabric near the selvage so you won't forget.

DEAR EUNICE,

When shortening a suede leather coat, what type of glue do you use for the hem? Is it necessary to press the hem? — MRS. B. A.

DEAR MRS. B. A.:

If you press leather at all, press it over heavy brown paper. Never press on the skins themselves. For hems, use the milky white household glue. Use sparingly and press hem firmly by patting with a block of wood.

Choosing Melon

Look for four things when you pick a cantaloupe, says the U.S. Department of Agriculture. A ripe, ready-to-eat melon will have a smooth shallow stem scar, thick, coarse, high-ridged netting or veining that stands out in bold relief on the surface and "ground" color between the netting that is either yellowish-buff, yellowish-gray or pale yellow. Check firmness gently, with both hands. The melon—and especially the blossom end—should yield a little.

Organdy Evening Mini Bloomers

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI)—The audience gasped when two mannequins glided into the fashion salon wearing organdy evening mini bloomers. Minis are not startling any more but the designer was Cristobal Balenciaga, the reputed king of world fashion.

A mini never has passed through the portals of Paris' great high fashion designers before. The press at Balenciaga's winter collection showing laughed off the minis with little sequin tops and organdy jackets as a joke.

Were the mink trousers worn with a mink coat a joke, too? A spokesman for the haughty salon refused to comment.

Aside from these two bombshells, Balenciaga retained his classic styles for elegant grown-up women, a change to the eye after two weeks of bare thighs, mini skirts and other attempts of Paris designers to capture buyers searching for ideas for the teenage market.

BALENCIAGA, probably the most influential man in women's styles the world over, presented styles that will be studied by other designers and manufacturers.

The designer cut most of his clothes much closer to the body; some sequined short evening dresses fit like gloves and were belted. He often definitely marks the waistline with medium-width or narrow belts.

But Balenciaga has not thrown away the loose waisted suits and shift dresses that many women love. His general silhouette is the classic Balenciaga T-shape for women who want to look tall, mature and sophisticated. Shoulders are high, rounded or weighted with capelets or ornaments for a broadshouldered look. The rest of the figure is straight and narrowed at the hem. Hardly anything is flared. Skirts barely hide the top of the knee.

BALENCIAGA, like rival Hubert de Givenchy, showed several belted one-piece pants dresses and suits with divided skirts, with no effort made to hide the division.

The collection included a raft of suits: long belted jackets with pleated skirts, shorter curve- dandy jackets with narrow skirts and another style with fitted front but loose back for the jacket.

Legislative Council Elects Giants Fan

Mrs. Peter Victor Obinsky of Black Point has been elected president of the Marin Women's Legislative Council, an affiliate of the Golden Gate District, California Federated Women's Club.

Ellenor or Elena as she is known to her friends, is the wife of Peter Victor Obinsky, an architect with the federal government.

Elena speaks with pride when she talks about their son Victor who is a graduate of Phillips Academy in Andover, Mass., a graduate of Columbia College in New York and he has just finished his first year at the University of California Hastings College of Law in San Francisco. He is spending the summer in Europe.

The new president enjoys most watching the San Francisco Giants win, sailing, bridge and knitting.

Elena attended high school in Sacramento, the Armstrong Business College and San Mateo College. She was Northern California diving champion in 1949. Before moving to Marin County 20 years ago, she was employed as secretary to Dr. John H. Lawrence at the University of California and Joaquim W. Myehlner, PhD at Lockheed Aircraft.

She served as second vice president for the council and as a member of the resolution committee before being elected president. The ultimate purpose of the organization is to support better legislation that is in the interest of Marin County, particularly that which affects the welfare of women and children.

Mrs. Obinsky has also served as past secretary of the Golden Gate District of CFWC, second vice president of the San Francisco' Women's Legislative Council, and is a member of the Black Point Improvement Club, Black Point Women's Club and the Novato Federated Women's Club.

She is taking a summer course in practical politics and says, "Yes, the old adage, the more I learn, the less I know — but how my enthusiasm grows to learn — What can I do about it?"

Officers serving with Mrs. Obinsky are Mesdames John Machado, first vice president; H. C. McVean Jr., second vice president; Beth Kessler, recording secretary; Donald Denton, corresponding secretary; Wayne Tharp, treasurer; L. E. Deu Pree, auditor and amenities; Albert Heston, parliamentarian and Paul A. Hammer, publicity.

Cleaning Can Be Overdone

Mrs. Overclean is stronger than she thinks. As much damage can be done by overcleaning a house as by neglecting it. When a housewife cleans too vigorously, using strong cleansing agents, she may wear out surfaces meant to last for years.

The simplest step in maintaining vinyl asbestos tile floor is the one most often overlooked: to sweep or vacuum daily, especially before washing the floor. Use only a mild soap or detergent solution. Allow it to remain on the surface 3 to 5 minutes to obtain the maximum cleaning effect and to reduce the amount of scrubbing necessary.

Destination A Mystery For Debutantes Black Tie Dance

By MOLLY MARIN

Locale for the black tie dance which Mr. and Mrs. James Michael of Belvedere will give for their Marin debutante daughter, Janetta, on Aug. 18 is a closely guarded secret. The guests have been asked to meet at the St. Francis Yacht Club in San Francisco where buses will depart at 8 p.m. for the mystery destination. After the formal dance, a midnight swim and supper party is scheduled, so the young set has been requested to bring casual clothes and swimming attire. Two bands will play during the evening. Smooth music will be contrasted with the rock beat.

The guest list of over 200 includes all the Marin debutantes and their escorts, some of Janetta's San Domenico classmates, and other young friends from throughout the Bay Area. At the end of the evening buses will return the party-goers to St. Francis Yacht Club. Janetta leaves in early September for Austin, Tex., to enroll at the University of Texas.

RETURNING TO their Marin Country Club Estates home last week were Dr. and Mrs. Alvin Haag following a three months tour that took them to Tahiti, New Zealand, Australia, Bangkok, Cambodia, Bali, and Jakarta with one month of their vacation spent in Northern Japan. Kentfield Mothers' New Shop For Teens And Twixteens

Two Kentfield mothers, Mesdames James McGuire and Clifford Josephson, who don't look much older than teen-agers, opened a teen and twixteen boutique today called the Polliwog Shop on Magnolia Avenue in Larkspur.

Neither owner has had experience in shopkeeping. Pat McGuire, who is the mother of four, two of whom are teens, has had fashion experience as a teen model with fashion magazines in New York City.

She was vice president of the Boyd Museum Guild last year and has been active in Kentfield Parent-Teacher Association, Junior Theatre and Marin Society of Artists.

Claudette Josephson was a commercial artist in New York and taught at Katherine Branson School in Ross. She holds a masters degree in art history.

The practical problems of money, bookkeeping and paper work are being relegated to the co-owners, husbands, one an attorney and the other a college professor.

The open house featured refreshments and live music of a combo from Terra Linda High School from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The shop has a unique "psychedelic pumpkin" decor with handmade and antique fixtures and an information bulletin board. The back deck will be available for rock group practice sessions on Saturday mornings or for school crafts exhibits.

Beads, earrings, pendants, and bells will be sold on consignment from students in Marin County. Doors of the shop will be open Tuesday through Saturday each week from 10:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Douglas Pringle Claims A Bride

The Rev. Donald Gordon Stewart officiated. The bride wore a white baptiste with embroidery fown.

After a Monterey wedding trip, the couple will live in Fort Benning, Ga.

Victoria is a Terra Linda High School graduate and attended College of Marin. She has a brother, Peter T. Wonacott of Tucson.

Mr. and Mrs. James Pringle of San Anselmo are parents of the bridegroom, who was graduated from Galileo High School and the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. He is serving with the Army.

He is the brother of Mrs. Neal Cothran of Mill Valley, Mrs. John Sward of Muir Beach and James L. Pringle Jr. of San Anselmo.

Vegetables Are In Abundance At Food Stores This Weekend

WASHINGTON (UPI)—This weekend's food shoppers will find their favorite food counters peppered with a good sprinkling of plentifuls. Vegetables, especially, are in stores in abundant array.

The vegetable list of those in ample supply is headed with lettuce, cabbage, corn, onions, cucumbers, beans and in some areas, tomatoes. Seasonal fruits such as lemons, limes, oranges, and in a few places, peaches, are abundant.

AMONG MEATS and other protein products, watch for possible good buys on beef roasts and steaks, broiler-fryers, and peanuts and peanut products.

In the fish realm, canned tuna, fish sticks and portions are plentiful on a national scale.

WEST: HARVESTING of many summer fruits and vegetables is at its peak and the list of those in best supply now includes avocados, bananas, grapes, oranges, peaches, strawberries, watermelons, beans, corn, cucumbers, lettuce, onions, peppers, potatoes and tomatoes.

CHOICE steer beef prices trended downward in California markets but were generally unchanged in the Northwest.

Pork prices, on the other hand, showed a mixed trend, with loins and hams 1 to 2 cents higher all along the coast, spareribs up slightly in Portland but 1 to 2 cents lower in San Francisco. Boston butts and bacon rose slightly in San Francisco but declined 2 to 3 cents a pound in Los Angeles.

Calf, veal and lamb prices were lower in San Francisco, but were unchanged elsewhere.

Hippie Area Combed For Murder Clues

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Police detectives combed the "Love Generation's" habitat today for clues to the murder of a bearded hippie whose right arm was cut off after his death.

"The answer .o this whole weird business is out there in the Haight - Ashbury District," said Inspector Gus Coreris. "The 'Love Generation' knows something about this and we intend to find out."

The murder victim, found in his apartment Thursday night, was identified as John K. Carter, 25.

His body was discovered by a neighbor who entered Carter's psychedelic "pad" through a window after hearing the meowing of a hungry cat.

There, among the multi - colored swirls and bursts of psychedelic art splashed across the walls and ceiling, was the one-armed body.

A trail of blood led from the living room to the bedroom where Carter lay face down on the apartment's only furniture, a mattress. He was dressed in a paisley sport shirt and jeans.

Twelve stab wounds were found on the body. The arm was severed just above the elbow. The coroner said Carter had been dead several days.

Officials Try To Determine Cause Of Blaze

SONORA (UPI) —U.S. Forest Service officials investigated the cause of a fire today which blackened 390 acres of valuable watershed in the Stanislaus National Forest near here.

Officials said the blaze may have been started by a discarded match, or by campers.

The fire broke out Wednesday near the Dardenelles recreation area. A crew of 475 firefighters struggled for two days before closing a ring around the fire at noon yesterday.

Officials estimated cost of the fire at $200,000 but said timber loss was negligible. Aircraft dumped nearly 40,000 gallons of fire retardant on the blaze.

No structures were destroyed and only three minor injuries were reported.

Technical Tryouts Slated For Play

Mill Valley Center for the Performing Arts will have tryouts of actors, designers, and technicians for its production of the play "Rape of the Belt" by Benn Levy, the center announced.

Tryouts will be held in the Old Clubhouse of the Mill Valley Municipal Golf Course on Buena Vista Avenue 7:45 p.m. Aug. 11, 13, and 14. Production of this satire of Heracles and the lion will be in mid-October.

Vandals Smash Small Playhouse

Vandals smashed a small playhouse in the rear yard of Almonte Improvement Club on Wisteria Way, Mill Valley, and damaged several toys in a storage room, sheriff's officers reported today.

Martha M. Coneay, club president, said Wednesday the vandalism occussed several days ago. The intruders also unsuccessfully attempted to start a fire in the storage room, she said.

Civil Liberties Union Apologizes

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) has apologized for accusing the University of California of supplying campus organization membership lists to the House Un-American Activities Committee.

A U.C. spokesman said Friday that ACLU Director John Pemberton Jr. wrote the university saying his organization was in error.

Teller Thinks Israel Working On The Bomb

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Nuclear physicist Dr. Edward Teller said yesterday he is convinced Israel is working on nuclear weapons.

Speaking before the Commonwealth Club, Teller said there is also a possibility Egypt may turn to Communist China for atomic weapons to recoup its failure in conventional war.

This possibility, he said, put Israel in a difficult position. "It is my guess that Israel would never sign a nuclear weapons non - proliferation treaty," he added.

Teller said he was told of the danger of Red Chinese aid to Egypt two years ago during a visit to Israel. "They were worried about it in 1965. You can imagine how they feel about it now."

The famed scientist said nonproliferation treaties and treaties forbidding arms traffic could not be effective in the present state of the world.

He declared that attempts to make all nations sign such pacts would only drive a wedge between America and her friends.

As an alternative, Teller suggested that the cause of world peace might be better served by having the United Nations pass a resolution making all arms trade open.

Open arms traffic would then pinpoint danger spots in the world and allow for long range policy planning, Teller said.

Six Have Filed Airport Manager Applications

Candidates for manager of the Marin County Airport at Novato have until Aug. 30 to apply, county personnel director Robert D. Elliott said yesterday.

Six applications have been received to date, he reported. The new position will pay between $753 and $914 monthly.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost is scheduled to make the appointment by Sept. 8, after a three-man committee reviews applications and interviews candidates.

An expansion program, including installation of a new runway, is underway at the airport.

Burglars Take Cash, Jewelry

Burglars entered an unlocked door of the home of Joseph J. Bernstein, 75 California Avenue, Tamalpais Valley, stealing about $50 cash and a $150 pair of cuff links, sheriff's deputies reported yesterday.

Bernstein reported the loss Wednesday.

Elizabeth Joan Bysin, Walnut Creek, reported someone entered her unlocked car in Inverness Wednesday, taking a purse containing $15.

Increased Raids Held To Heavy Plane Loss

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The number of American warplanes downed by North Vietnamese antiaircraft fire continues to increase despite the fact the Communists' 'kill rate" has been halved in the last two years, Pentagon figures showed today.

Defense Department officials said the rising plane losses were the result of a more than twofold increase since 1965 in the number of bombing flights being made.

So far this year, 186 U.S. jets have been shot down by North Vietnamese gunners and rocket crews, an average of just over 26 losses per month for the first seven months of 1967.

This compares with the loss of 279 planes in all of 1966, an average of 23 a month, and 168 losses in 1965, an average of 14 a month. Only two planes were shot down in 1964.

During the same two years, however, the rate of U.S. losses declined from 3.2 per 1000 "sorties" in 1965, to 2.2 per 1,000 in 1966, and to 1.6 per 1,000 during the first half of this year.

The tally included only the 635 fixed-wing U.S. warplanes lost to hostile fire over North Vietnam.

Another 196 U.S. warplanes and 354 helicopters have been shot down by Communist gunners in South Vietnam.

Senate Cuts LBJ's Funds For Defense

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Appropriations Committee has trimmed President Johnson's defense budget to $70.15 billion by eliminating $1.4 billion in request.

The total was $138.8 million less than the figure the House approved in May. The two programs hardest hit by the economy move were the Navy's F111B jet and the Fast Deployment Logistic Ship (FDL).

The Defense Department had sought $287 million for the F111B, the Navy version of the controversial TFX, but the Senate cut the total to $115 million, enough to buy only six planes.

Chairman Richard Russell of the Senate Armed Services Committee was instrumental in blocking the $300 million budget request for the FDL, contending it could lead to U.S. involvement in brush fire wars all over the world.

In a service-by-service breakdown, the Army was allotted $22.7 billion in the committee bill, the Air Force $24 billion, the Navy and Marine corps $19.7 billion, and defense agencies $3.7 billion.

The Senate committee cut the House appropriation for pay and allowances for military personnel by $146 million, $219 million below President Johnson's initial budget request.

35 Will Join Reserve Chapter

Thirty-five new members — some in absentia — will be enrolled in the Reserve Officers Association, Chapter 22 of Marin County, at ceremonies to be held Aug. 12 and 13 at Clear Lake, Lake County.

A number of men will be flying missions to Vietnam and elsewhere and unable to attend, Lt. Col. Edward L. Jones of Greenbrae, chapter president, reported today.

The ceremony, normally held at Hamilton Air Force Base, is being held at Clear Lake because of installation of the new Lake County Chapter on the same weekend.

Auditions for the part of Angelo in Ugo Betti's "Goat Island" will be 8 p.m. Monday aboard the barge Holland, Gate Five Road, Waldo Point. A group of actors will present the play aboard the barge.

Youths Find Charges May Be Costly

Two Marin City youths were arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on three misdemeanor counts arising out of a stop sign traffic violation.

Claude B. Burton, 22, of 33 Cole Drive, is charged with disturbing the peace of Sheriff's Deputy Gary Bartolotti, and with carrying a loaded .25-caliber pistol. Frederick R. (Dickie) Jones, 20, of 251 Drake Avenue, is accused of obstructing deputies in their duties.

Officers said they cited Burton for failing to stop at a stop sign in Marin City early yesterday. Burton shouted obscenities at them, they said, and Jones objected to an arrest of Burton. Deputies said Jones slugged Deputy Arthur Distarhaft in the stomach. The gun was found in Burton's car, they added

Judge Peter Allen Smith set bail at $2,750 for Jones, and $1,100 for Burton. Both are to enter pleas at 1:30 p.m. next Friday.

Year's Probation In Marijuana Case

Forrest Lawrence Rankin, 19, was placed on a year's probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for being present where marijuana was being used in San Rafael May 14.

Rankin, of 20 Glen Drive, Sausalito, pleaded guilty July 8. He originally was accused of marijuana possession.

Paper Reports Mao Is Facing Worst Crisis

HONG KONG (UPI)—Communist China's official newspaper today said anti-Mao rebels were launching "mad new attacks" throughout China against Peking's tottering regime. Other reports made clear Mao Tse-tung's 19-year-old dynasty was facing its most serious threat of civil war.

Acknowlgement of the widespread turmoil came a year to the day after party Chairman Mao issued his public call for the liquidation of his enemies.

An editorial in the Peking People's Daily, broadcast by Peking Radio, cited the uprising in Wuhan city as one of many "grave political" incidents. Radio reports from other regions told of other disturbances.

The People's Daily, controlled by forces loyal to Mao, said opponents of Mao and his so-called cultural revolution "have occupied a base in our country's power structures on a rather large scale." In a break with tradition, the editorial mentioned several of the anti-Maoist leaders by name, including Peng Teh-huai, former defense minister; Lo Jui-ching, former party propaganda chief; Lu Ting-yi and Yank Shank-ku, former members of the party secretariat.

The editorial claimed the anti-Mao headquarters was "already destroyed," but added that "bad elements . . . in all regions and all departments are still exploiting their remaining influence . . .to carry out mad new attacks."

There were reports of violence in Canton, Szechuan and Manchuria and the cities of Shanghai, Wuhan, and Chungking. Travelers arriving in Hong Kong from China said Communist Chinese border guards have tightened security to prevent defections to this British crown colony.

One man said troops recently banned anti-British demonstrations along the Hong Kong border to prevent demonstrators from using the confusion to escape into the colony.

To Play At Fair

The Novato High School Band will play twice Sept. 8 at the California State Fair in Sacramento — once at 1:30 p.m., on Stage Two and again in a parade through the fairgrounds at 7:30 p.m. The 60-member band is directed by John F. Yardas.

REMEMBER
the old brown shingle houses you used to find in small towns? They usually had a big front veranda, and like as not, they'd have a couple of palms planted out in front. Inside you'd find a big living room with a brick fireplace, a couple of bedrooms, and a big family kitchen. Naturally they all had a big back yard and a cellar to store preserves. Well, we've just found one that fits the whole description, and if you'd like to see it, we'll be glad to show it to you this weekend. $19,250.

Washington House First Historic Site

The first historic site to be established by any state was George Washington's headquarters at Newburgh, N.Y.

It is the farmhouse from which he directed troops during the final 16 months of the Revolution. It was there too that he rejected the suggestion he become king of the new country and that he established the Order of the Purple Heart.

Company Claims Highest Stack

The stack is 828 feet high, or 428 feet higher than the old one.

Smelter Manager W. J. Woodside said the new smokestack was built at a cost of about $1.5 million.

Blades Of Grass Not Always So Small

We usually thing of grass as little green blades, a few inches tall.

But bamboo is considerd a grass and it grows to a height of 120 feet in India and China. Other tall grasses are oat grass, about five feet tall, giant wild rye grass, about 10 feet in height, and 12-foot-tall corn grass.

Ducks And Drakes Just Too Much

LONDON (UPI)—A family doctor started something when he advertised for a mate for his pet Muscovy drake. He got a flood of replies—but from women wanting to marry him.

"Dear Ducky," began one letter.

The doctor, already married, hastily inserted another ad. This one announced that the drake had lost interest.

Bulldozer Uncovers Ancient Footprints

A 160-million year old set of footprints can be seen in Rocky Hill State Park in Connecticut.

They belonged to a dinosaur known as Anchisauripus, of the Triassic period, and were uncovered by a bulldozer excavating for a highway department laboratory.

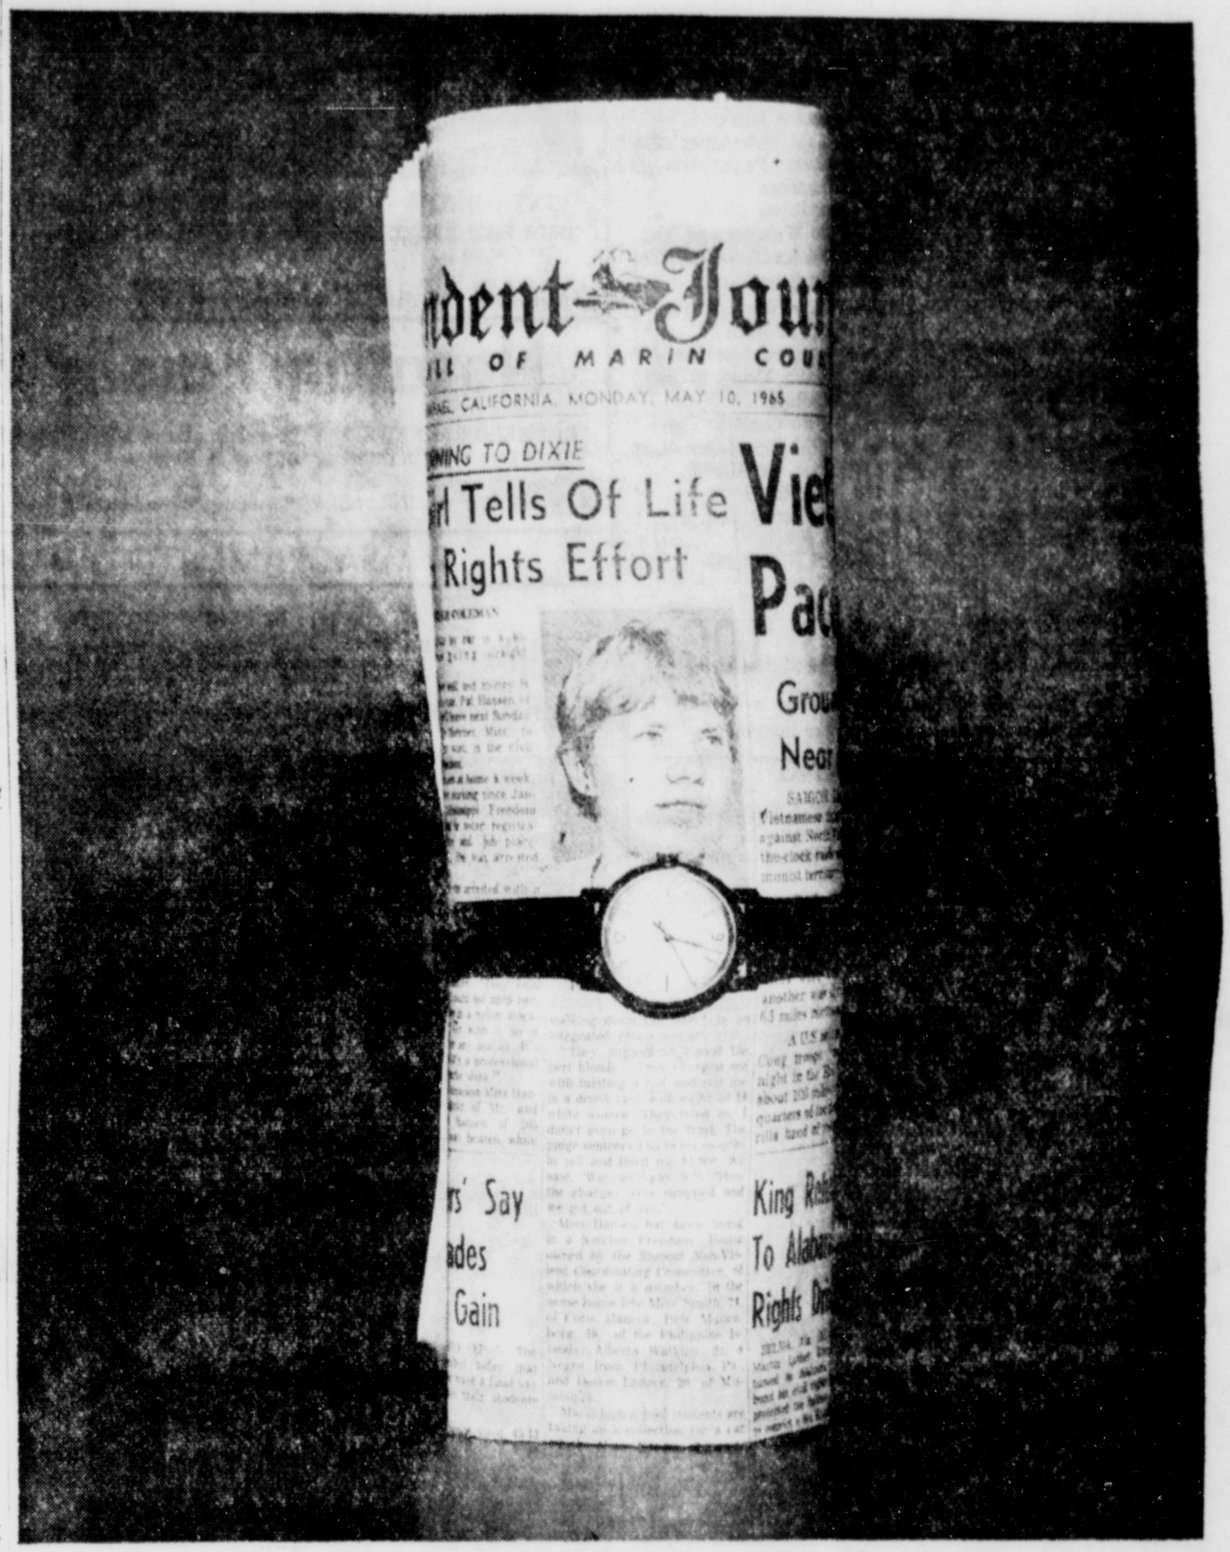
The Accident Prone Age Group

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (UPI)—Any unmarried man between the ages of 16 and 24 who received a moving violation traffic ticket last year was also probably involved in an accident, a research report indicates.

The Highway Safety Research Institute of the University of Michigan drew the conclusion from a study of accident reports in the "dangerous" age group. It said the correlation between those who were given a traffic ticket and those who later had accidents was "almost 100 per cent."

Frankish Invasion

A Germanic tribe called the Franks invaded Gaul from the fifth to ninth centuries and gave the land its present name: France.



Best-seller time is tonight

For every I-J advertiser, an advantage in selling

When you, as an advertiser, purchase space in the I-J, your message gains a TIME ADVANTAGE worth dollars and cents in the till. For as an EVENING NEWSPAPER, the I-J reaches your customer prospects at the PRIME BUYING TIME . . . in the evening, when people have the MOST TIME to read and consider your merchandise and prices.

This EVENING READING TIME is nothing to pass over lightly. This is when buying decisions are made . . . when people are relaxed, receptive, actively in search of advertised values. Contrast this with radio, with morning newspapers, with circulars. In the I-J, readers search the ads, page by page. They WANT TO READ, have TIME to read . . . have time to "talk it over," compare, decide. Even the kids get into the act! Small wonder the I-J is Marin's first choice for advertising . . . by both readers and advertisers.

MORE FOR YOUR STORE
The I-J out-sells all other newspapers in Marin. More daily Marin circulation than the Chronicle and Examiner combined.

Everyone's reading
Marin's Best-seller

Independent-Journal ☆ Serving all of Marin County

VINTAGE TOY — Flying buff Kevin Dearth with parachute prepares to take off in his vintage P-51 airplane. He keeps the World War II fighter plane at Marin County Airport.

WORLD WAR II MUSTANG

Novatan Finally Finds Dream Plane

By THERON A. NEWELL

"She'll bore holes in the sky," Kevin Dearth said proudly of his World War II P-51 which he keeps at the Marin County Airport at Novato.

The fighter plane was nicknamed "The Mustang" during the war because to fly it was like holding onto a wild mustang, he said.

Dearth claims that the 300-mile-an-hour P-51 was the fastest propellor driven land plane ever made. Owners like himself are using the planes in races, he said.

"It can still do acrobatics all over the sky," he added.

Dearth, who has been flying since 1959, acquired the plane in a trade with American Aircraft of Hayward. He had a new skyliner which he traded even for the P-51.

"I had been looking for several years for one and when I found this one in excellent condition I knew I had to have it," he said.

The plane, one of about 100 left in the world, according to Dearth, had a new 1,500 horsepower Rolls Royce V-12 engine in it. It also had new rubber and a new canopy, he said.

Of course, after the National Guard quit using them in the mid-1950s and they were sold for surplus, all the armament was taken out, Dearth said. The plane had been equipped with three .50 caliber machine guns in each wing. It also had three rockets on each wing which were added for the Korean War, he said.

Originally, the plane was a one seated fighter, but Dearth added a second seat where he took out the spare gasoline tank. The old ammunition storage spaces in the wings make excellent luggage carriers when he goes on a trip, such as he often makes to South Shore at Lake Tahoe.

For those liking statistics, the plane has a ceiling of 40,000 feet. It cruises at 300 miles an hour with a maximum speed of 505 miles per hour. At normal cruising speed it consumes about 60 gallons of gasoline per hour and and has a 900 mile range.

When used as a fighter and loaded with ammunition and gasoline, the plane weighed 6 tons. Stripped of its ammunition and armament, it weighs about 3.6 tons, he said.

The federal government purchased 14,490 of the planes between 1941 and 1945. The first ones cost $58,698 but this figure dropped down to $50,980 at the end of the contract. Of these, as Dearth said, there are only about 100 left.

Bomber pilots in World War II called them "little friends" because they were the first fighter plane that could accompany them from England to Germany and back on their bombing raids, he said.

His wife, Dana, who had flown their other plane, gave up flying when he bought the P-51 because she has not learned to fly it, he said.

Now when he wants to take his family flying, he has to borrow a plane because the P-51 will not hold both Dearths and their son Timothy, 8 and daughter, Christel, 2.

Although he has taken the plane all up and down the West Coast, it is not a practical family plane, he said.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

VAN DELLEN

Swimming is fun, relaxing, and good exercise. All the larger muscles are put into play without bearing the weight of the body. In this respect, buoyancy of the water helps prevent overexertion. It is an excellent sport for people of all ages. Knowing how to swim may save your life or that of a companion.

Approximately 7,000 persons will drown this summer in the United States. Some of these tragedies will involve swimmers who overestimated their ability or took unnecessary chances. Skin or scuba divers who are untrained, careless, or unfit physically or emotionally for the sport will be among the fatalities.

The growing popularity of water sports makes it imperative to be able to swim. All swimmers and boating enthusiasts should learn "drown proofing." This technic is based on the fact that the body does not submerge completely, even when no effort is made to stay afloat.

A PERSON can remain in the water for six hours without undue fatigue by taking a breath and allowing himself to sink to his natural level of buoyancy. In 10 seconds, he resurfaces and exhales. He repeats the process until rescued.

The good swimmer who drowns for no apparent reason may have had a heart attack, epileptic seizure, leg cramp, or dizziness from Memiere's syndrome.

Oversensitivity to cold is an unusual cause. This physical allergy occurs when the swimmer ventures into cold water. Hivelike reactions ensue and breathing is affected when the lining of the windpipe swells.

ONE CAUSE for drowning has received too little publicity. Some swimmers have found that they can remain under water for long periods by taking several deep breaths before diving. So much carbon dioxide is exhaled that the compulsion to breathe is lost.

The brain lacks oxygen and the individual loses consciousness. When this occurs on land the individual collapses, but if he is under water he may drown.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

VENTILATION

F. R. writes: Does sleeping in a room with no ventilation make a person more susceptible to colds?

REPLY

No, because most respiratory infections, such as the common cold, are caught from other people through direct contact, inhaling contaminated air, or handling infected objects. In this respect, a poorly ventilated room is more uncomfortable than conducive to disease.

CRAMPING IN LEGS

P. Q. writes: Could diabetes cause leg cramps? I never had them before I developed this disease.

REPLY

Yes, because diabetes may be associated with poor circulation or neuritis. Bring this to your physician's attention, for something can be done to relieve cramping. There are other causes of leg cramps, however.

DEAFNESS

Mrs. P. O. writes: Can hardening of the arteries cause deafness?

REPLY

Indirectly, by curtailing circulation to the hearing apparatus.

ANESTHESIA

H. W. Y. writes: Is it safe for a fat person to take an anesthetic and be operated upon?

REPLY

Yes, but the risk is slightly greater than in persons of normal weight.

Today's Health Hint —

Easy tiring may be a sign of diabetes.

Bresnan Firm Low Bidder On Sewage Project

A. J. Bresnan of San Rafael was low bidder yesterday at $7,494 for construction of drainage facilities on Mill Valley between Nelson Avenue and Camino Alto.

Other bids were Maggiora and Ghilotti, Corte Madera, $8,280; Ghilotti Brothers, San Rafael, $9,400, and McGuire and Hester, Oakland, $10,600.

City Eng. Stanley M. Bala had estimated cost of the project at $7,800.

Award of a contract for the project is to be made by the city council 8 p.m. Monday in City Hall.

The project includes a new culvert under Nelson Avenue and an earth channel to Camino Alto. Street access to the channel will be fenced.

Drunken Driving Fines Are Given

Three persons were sentenced in Marin Municipal Court yesterday for drunken driving.

Armando Ferdinand Castillas, 42, of 37 Gregory Road, Fairfax, was fined $345 and placed on a year's probation. California Highway Patrol arrested him July 17 on State Highway 1.

Wesley David Hempel, 39, of 53 Queva Vista, Novato, was fined $230 and placed on a year's probation. The patrol arrested him Tuesday on Highway 101.

William Judson Carter, 39, of 3330 Paradise Drive, Tiburon, was fined $202 and placed on a year's probation. The patrol arrested him on Highway 101 May 6.

Today is Saturday, Aug. 5, the 217th day of 1967 with 148 to follow.

The moon is new. The morning stars are Saturn and Mercury. The evening stars are Venus and Mars.

Born on this day in 1850 was French novelist Guy de Maupassant.

On this day in history:

In 1912, the Progressive Party, which bolted from the Republicans, met in Chicago to nominate Theodore Roosevelt for President.

In 1962, Actress Marilyn Monroe died of an overdose of barbituates.

A thought for the day — British statesman John Morely once said: "No man can climb out beyond the limitations of his own character."

TIME AND TIDE

Department of Commerce, United States Coast Geodetic Survey, Western District headquarters. Times and heights of tides at San Francisco (Golden Gate):

The column of heights gives the elevation in feet of each tide above or below the plane of Coast Survey chart soundings. The depths are always additive to the chart depths unless preceded by a minus sign (-), when the numbers are subtracted from the depth given in the chart. HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Bridge Master Must Concoct Play Without Any Hesitation

A chess master can usually take a long time to concoct his brilliant plays. A bridge expert must often do his best work without the slightest hesitation.

In many situations it is fatal to let the opponent know that you have anything to think about.

FIRST HEART

South ruffed the first heart, drew trumps withe ace and king and cleared the top clubs out of the way before leading a low diamond from his hand.

West followed with a low diamond, and declarer played the king of diamonds from dummy.

If you are now thinking about the right play from the East hand it is possible that you would be a great success at chess; but you won't do well on this bridge hand.

East will not defeat the contract by taking the ace of diamonds because South cannot get the dummy to try a diamond finesse. South will have to lead the queen of diamonds out of his hand, and the jack will drop.

SOUTH WILL KNOW

Nor will East improve matters by thinking when South leads a diamond to dummy's king. The thought will tell South that East has the ace of diamonds. Even if East refuses the trick South will return a diamond from dummy to his own queen.

East will defeat the slam if he has seen this kind of situation in his favorite bridge column so that he knows what to do without needing to think about it. When South leads a diamond to the king, East must play a low diamond very casually.

South naturally assumes that West has the ace of diamonds.

Declarer returns a diamond from dummy and tries a finesse with the 10 of diamonds. This loses to the jack, and South eventually loses another diamond to the ace.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two notrump.

This promises 13 to 15 points with balanced distribution and strength in all unbid suits so that you are one point light for your bid.

By way of compensation you have the queen of partner's bid suit, which is worth a trifle more than any other queen, and you also have a ten and two nines.

More to the point, no other response is attractive so that you must make a choice of evils.

GARDNER RETIRES

Junk-Filled Land Turned To Flowers

Fifteen years ago, Boyd Park in San Rafael was a jungle of poison oak, junk and unkempt wilderness behind the Boyd mansion at Mission Avenue and B Street.

Today it's a real park, filled with flowers, ornamental shrubs, neat lawns and picnic and recreation facilities.

The man who transformed it is Alfred W. Frey, 65, who retired Tuesday after 15 years as gardener and caretaker for the park.

It took two years, Frey said, to "bring this place up" to order. Seventeen truckloads of junk, litter and hacked-out undergrowth were taken from the park during cleanup.

Then Frey followed zealously the city manager's orders to "plant flowers wherever there was a space," raising them in a greenhouse on the grounds and planting them.

He was also kept busy rousting hoboes and tramps who frequently slept on the grounds. They were almost the only persons using the park then. Today an average of 200 people a day visit the park, which has tennis courts, swings, picnic tables and playground areas.

A bachelor, Frey, who has lived in the house on the grounds, plans a gardener's sort of retirement. He intends to find a small place in Mendocino County and work part time pruning trees. "That's what I like to do, you know," he said.

He did gardening part time during World War II, when he was a swing shift worker at Marinship. After the war, he maintained the plantings at Deer Park Villa in Fairfax and doubled inside as a waiter.

He was hired by San Rafael in 1952, working directly under the park commission and the city manager. The city had no park director then.

He plans to stay with a brother in Novato for a time while he looks for a place of his own farther north.

Appointments On Council's Long Agenda

San Rafael City Council will consider appointments of a planning commissioner and a member of the board of examiners and appeals at its meeting Monday at 8 p.m. in City Hall.

Five applications have been received for the planning job but none for the board opening, according to City Mgr. Dan Andersen.

In other business, the Council will also hold a public hearing Monday on rezoning of property at 25 to 111 Third Street, south side, from duplex residential to general commercial with parking requirements.

A zoning ordinance amendment, also for public hearing, would allow certain accessory structures to be located in side yard and rear yard areas.

The Council will also consider an ordinance to put into effect charter revisions approved by voters in April and an ordinance relating to Francisco Boulevard annexation.

Also for consideration are undergrounding of utilities in subdivisions and abandonment of street easement along a portion of McCoy Road.

New agenda items include changing the name of Main Drive, between Pt. San Pedro Road and Knight Drive, to Castlewood Drive and adoption of a continuous numbering system on Main Drive and Castlewood Drive.

Requests for use of properties by the San Rafael Lions Club and the San Rafael Jaycees will also be considered, as well as an application from Doctor's Ambulance Service, Ltd. of Oakland to operate an ambulance service.

A hearing date on annexation of 3.06 uninhabited acres off Oakmont Court on the north side of the Fairhills area may also be set at Monday's Council meeting.

Minimum Lot Size Reduction Hearing Monday

Reduction of minimum lot sizes required in the area of Parkwood, Laurelwood and Presidio avenues and Forrest, Hill and Grove streets will be heard by Mill Valley City Council at 8 p.m. Monday.

The proposed rezoning from 3,000-square-foot to 2,500-square-foot minimums has been recommended by the planning commission.

Also on the agenda is proposed remodeling of the golf clubhouse for use by the Center for the Performing Arts, and proposed expansion of city hall offices into a vacant building at 21 Corte Madera Avenue for $175 a month.

It is estimated that California crops valued at more than $200 million annually require insect pollination, chiefly by honeybees.

Suspect Pleads Guilty to Three Counts On Spree

Robert W. Hullinger, 22, pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to car theft, petty theft, and exhibiting a firearm in a threatening manner during a half-hour spree July 23.

Judge Peter Allen Smith certified the case to Marin Superior Court for judgment at 9:30 a.m. Monday.

Hullinger, of San Rafael, was arrested by sheriff's officers after terrorizing residents of San Rafael's Golf Tract district by riding the streets in the stolen car and firing shotgun blasts.

Officers said he stole the shotgun, along with the automobile of Waddell F. Smith of 70 Margarita Drive. He wrecked the vehicle minutes later near 90 Sea Way and was captured.

The pleas came at opening of a preliminary hearing.

Forms Available For Protesting Tax Assessment

Marin property owners seeking to protest their 1967-68 assessment to the county appeals board may obtain forms from the board clerk in Room 315 of the Civic Center.

Completed forms must be filed with the clerk by Sept. 15. Board hearings are scheduled to begin Sept. 18.

Mrs. Mona Elder, board clerk, said 28 formal appeals have been received to date.

The county's property assessment list is available for inspection outside the board of supervisors' chambers, across the hall from the office of the appeals clerk.

Planners To Study Accounting Office

The San Anselmo Planning Commission will consider C. N. Hadley's request for a use permit for a home accounting business at 1405 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at 8 p.m. Monday at city hall.

Glen Graham seeks a variance for a carport at 70 Scenic Avenue; Donald Knorr seeks a lot line revision at 14 Entrata Avenue, and Charles Lavaroni seeks a two-lot subdivision at 14 and 15 Hampton Court.

Menlo Park Firm Is Low Bidder

The Automatic Rain Co. of Menlo Park was low bidder of two at $3,689 on sprinkler equipment for the Corte Madera Town Park in bids taken at Corte Madera Town Hall yesterday.

Western Toro Co. of Burlingame bid $3,861. The equipment, part of a town beautification project, was estimated to cost $4,024.

Half-Starr Stuns Stars As Juggernauts Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Bart Starr had only a half interest in the 34th college All-Star game last night but that's all it took for the Green Bay passing master to cool off a fired-up All-Star defense and pace the professional champions to a 27-0 triumph.

Starr, facing a strong collegiate rush, put the Packer running game in cold storage in the first half but chilled the All-Stars with 15 completions for 212 yards and two touchdowns before retiring to the sidelines at the halftime.

The lanky Alabaman, who directed the Packers to a Super Bowl victory last season used six different receivers to flood the collegiate defense, then ignored the long strike and picked apart the shallow secondary.

SURPRISE

The Green Bay quarterback was surprised early in the game when Bubba Smith, Michigan State's mammoth end, broke through and pinned him for a 10-yard loss.

Starr dusted himself off and completed three straight passes to the All-Star 13-yard line, where Don Chandler kicked a 13-yard field goal.

Three plays later, Steve Spurrier, the Heisman Trophy winning quarterback from Florida who started the game for the collegians, fumbled and when the rugged star defense stopped the Green Bay running game, Chandler kicked his second field goal.

In the second quarter, Starr began testing the collegiate secondary and he found it wanting. The Packers drove 61 yards in eight plays with Starr hitting Boyd Dowler with an 11-yard touchdown strike.

The All-Star offense, loaded with highly regarded running backs, was held in check by the impregnable Packer forward wall.

Coach John Sauer shuttled Spurrier and Bob Griese of Purdue in and out of the line-up, but neither could find the passing magic to loosen the Green Bay defense.

Midway in the second quarter, Starr hung out three completions bringing the Packers to the All-Star 21, then found Bob Long all alone in the right corner of the end zone for a touchdown.

Zeke Bratkowski relieved Starr for the second half, and though he completed eight of 11 passes the All-Stars were able to contain the Packers in the third quarter. But again the Packer defense yielded little to the collegiate attempts.

Jim Grabowski, last year's prize rookie from Illinois who was on duty with the National Guard in Milwaukee, Wis., joined Green Bay shortly before the game and stamped himself as an appropriate heir to the fullback position where Jim Taylor once reigned.

GRIESE DRIVE

Grabowski sparked the Packers in the second half, gaining 53 yards in seven carries, including a 22-yard touchdown sprint through the middle of the All-Star defense in the final period. He was the game's leading rusher with 77 yards in nine carries.

After the score, Griese led the Stars on their only sustained march of the evening. He completed four passes to carry them from their 19 to the Green Bay 18, then threw to Dave Williams of Washington who was alone in the middle of the end zone. But Williams had to leap for the ball and came down past the end line nullifying the score.

The Stars were good where they were expected to be—stopping Green Bay's running—and weak where their supporters hoped they wouldn't be—coping with the brilliant Starr.

The Packer victory coupled with a 38-0 triumph last year, made it eight straight scoreless quarters for the All-Stars who suffered their 23rd loss in the series.

The Stars have won nine, the last time in 1963 against Green Bay, and two games were tied.

A crowd of 70,934 watched the contest at Soldier Field.

So What Do You Think About That Herman?

New York — This big town of the USA likes to be first in everything and usually is — even rumors. When the Giants purchased Dick Groat's contract June 21 from the Phillies for the $20,000 waiver price, within 48 hours there was a speculative story that Groat was to be the next manager of the Giants.

"And what do you think about that?" one of the baseball writers traveling with the Giants asked Herman Franks, manager of the Giants.

"What am I supposed to say?" said Franks. "You've seen stuff like that out of New York before. It grabs a sports headline but how often does it prove true?"

Story Denied Twice

"Because we thought he could help us as a spot fill-in at shortstop and with his bat in pinch roles," said Franks.

Double-checking on Franks' report, the baseball writer sought out Chub Feeney who substantiated what the manager said.

"We saw Groat's name on the waiver list," said Feeney, "and asked Franks if he wanted Groat. He said he did. So we got him. It was as simple as that."

Thus, a speculative story out of New York was doubly denied, first by Franks himself and then Feeney, Horace Stoneham's nephew and right hand man who holds the title of vice president in the Giant organization but acts as its general manager.

Rumor Begets Rumor

Nevertheless, the rumors about Groat becoming the next manager of the Giants led to other rumors that this was Franks' last season as field skipper of the team.

On the team plane flying to New York for the first game of a make-or-break 13-game road trip for the Giants, the persistent baseball writer once again buttonholed Franks.

"What about the new rumors that you are on your way out?" Franks was asked.

"I'll say one thing for you," Franks told the writer. "You don't pussyfoot around with your questions. But what did I say a couple of weeks ago in Pittsburgh when Harry Walker was fired? Remember?"

On the occasion of Walker's summary dismissal by the Pirate general manager, Joe Brown, Franks was asked what he thought of it.

Hired To Be Fired

"Managers are hired to be fired," was Franks' reply. "I wasn't shocked by Walker's dismissal although Walker was quoted as saying he was.

"I wouldn't be shocked if Horace Stoneham told me right now I was through. I took the job with the understanding that I wasn't seeking security but a challenge."

The challenge to Franks is a pennant which he almost won in his rookie year as a major league manager three seasons ago. This year, with time running out and a big gap existing between the Giants and league-leading Cardinals, it looks like he is going to be unsuccessful in his third try.

"But don't count me out yet," said Franks. "We could get hot on this road trip now that Willie Mays is feeling like himself again."

In San Rafael Win Medals And Records

Rita Nederman, Bobby Placak and Tami McDuffie each won four gold medals and contributed to two winning relay victories as the San Rafael Swim Club won the Redwood Swim League meet at Pittsburg last weekend.

Bobby, Tami, Cookie Arrighi, Jo Hislop, Tom Panages and Leslie Bryans broke meet records.

Babe Ruth Stars Romp In Tourney

The aroused Novato Babe Ruth League All-Stars, stung by a 2-1 defeat Tuesday by El Segundo, yesterday scored their second straight lopsided triumph in the Southwest Regional Tournament at El Segundo, 12-0, over Hawthorne, Nev., and this afternoon took another crack at the host club.

El Segundo lost Thursday to Arcadia, 5-1, which in turn lost to Hawaii, 2-0. Hawaii is the only unbeaten team left in the double elimination tournament. The winner of the Novato-El Segundo game this afternoon plays Arcadia at 8 tonight and the survivor of that game must beat Hawaii twice tomorrow to take the tournament.

TWO IN FIRST

Novato landed on Hawthorne for two runs in the first inning yesterday, went scoreless in the second and then thrashed the Silver Staters the rest of the way.

Tom Zechlin and Russ Dillon, pitching aces for Novato who played elsewhere yesterday as Glenn Holsclaw and Archie Speak hurled a two-hitter, led the winners' attack. Zechlin had three hits and a walk, stole a base and scored three runs, while Dillon doubled twice to drive in three runs, scored three more and got hit by a pitch.

RUN SPLURGE

The first seven men in the Novato lineup scored runs and the other two starters, Steve Francis and Ken Gnoss, each had two hits.

Although the Hawthorne starter was the losing pitcher, he only faced two batters before a sore arm forced him to retire from the scene. He got the first Novato batter, Garland Olson, walked Dee Fedrick and gave way to a "relief" pitcher who allowed eight hits and five walks in less than four innings.

Hawken Captures Junior Golf Title

Don Hawken of San Rafael fired a 71 over the last 18 holes to capture the Northern California Junior Tournament of Champions at Corral de Tierra Country Club in Salinas yesterday.

Hawken finished with a 147, one better than runnerup David Shipley and two better than Ray Leach of Novato, who fired an opening round 72 but faltered to a 77 yesterday.

Sadecki Cracks Met Jinx

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Mets, unhappily settling ever deeper into the National League cellar, suffered a double defeat last night.

Not only were they beaten 3-0 by San Francisco, the Mets also lost their own personal patsy and it might be a long time before they find one to replace him.

Giants' pitcher Ray Sadecki had somehow not managed to beat the Mets for more than three years—surely a record of sorts-before yesterday's victory and had been chased in each of his previous eight starts against them.

The situation was abruptly terminated when in 8⅓ innings he gave up just six hits before getting some last-minute help in mopping up the Mets from Frank Linzy. It was the left-hander's first victory in nearly a month and dropped the Mets 23½ games off the pace.

In other National League games, St. Louis shut out Cincinnati 5-0, Philadelphia crushed Houston 7-1, Atlanta beat Chicago 6-3, and Pittsburgh edged Los Angeles 3-2 in 10 innings.

In the American League, Cleveland thrashed Detroit 11-5, Minnesota shut out Boston 3-0, Kansas City nudged New York 2-1 and California nipped Washington 5-4. Chicago and Baltimore were rained out.

Sadecki broke his jinx against the Mets by slowing down out on the mound.

"I usually get out there and work too fast," he said. "It's a big problem of mine. But catcher Tom Haller comes out and talks to me and won't give me that ball, so I have to slow down."

Sadecki struck out nine batters, drove in one run with a single and moved a runner to third with another. Jim Hart hit his 25th homer.

St. Louis moved seven games ahead of Chicago in the National League race, with Larry Jaster mowing down Cincinnati on four hits. The Cards scored all their runs in the sixth inning, Lou Brock doubling in two of them.

Dick Ellsworth stopped the Astros on seven hits, completing his first game since April as the Phillies struck for 16 hits. Don Lock hit a three-run homer, and Johnny Briggs had four hits. Rich Allen drove in two runs and had three hits.

Denis Menke had four hits and Joe Torre three as the Braves presented the Cubs with their sixth defeat in their last seven games. Pat Jarvis, 12-4, was the winning pitcher.

Jim Lefebvre's wild throw allowed Gene Alley to come in with Pittsburgh's winning run. Alley singled leading off the 10th, moved to second on Jim Pagliaroni's bunt hit and came around when Lefebvre fielded Jose Pagan's bunt and threw it past third trying for the forceout.

McNally Keeps Novato Legion Hopes Alive

Righthander Steve McNally pitched a one-hitter against Eureka yesterday to help the Novato American Legion baseball team remain in contention in the Northern California tournament at Woodland with a 4-1 victory.

Novato lost its first game in the double elimination playoff. The Marin boys played Yuba City at 10 a.m. today and the winner of that game plays tonight at 5:30.

Tom Corder led the Novato attack with a run-scoring single in the third inning and an RBI double in the seventh. Second baseman Mike Ferretti, whose error in the third gave Eureka its only run, doubled in the first Novato run in the second.

Flash For Fishermen: Anchovy Bill Killed

To all sportsmen-conservationists who wrote the governor and/or the State Department of Fish and Game opposing a proposed plan to up the quota of anchovies to 200,000 tons and to make the quota permanent rather than experimental:

The plan was denied July 28 by a 3-2 vote of the Fish and Game Commission.

U.S. Eyes World Records In Pan-American Windup

WINNIPEG, Canada (AP) — The dominant U.S. forces set their eyes on four world records in track and field and a cluster of at least 15 more gold medals today in the climax of the fifth Pan-American Games.

A championship was assured in basketball. The Yanks also hoped to win six of the nine final events in track and field and take perhaps five of the seven rowing races on the Red River Floodway.

Two U.S. boxers—light welterweight James Wallington of Philadelphia and light heavyweight Archer Redden, an Army sergeant from Wilmington, Del.—were in the finals. The U.S. women basketball players were bidding for a silver medal.

NO RECORD

Today's full schedule just about winds up these hemispheric olympics, to be concluded tomorrow with formal ceremonies and the traditional Nation's Cup equestrian test.

There appears little chance of beating the record 120 gold medals won by the United States in 1959. The total now is 103, with 56 silver and 42 bronze.

World record possibilities lie in the pole vault, where Bob Seagren (17-5½) of Los Angeles is the lone competitor; the men's 400 and 1600-meter relays, and the women's 800-meter run, in which 19-year-old Madeline Manning is shooting to break the two-minute barrier.

Without the great Jim Ryun, the United States will be underdog in the featured 1,500 meters, where sub-four-minute-miler Dave Bailey of Canada is favored; the marathon and the women's shot put, in which Canada's Nancy McRedie is defending titleholder.

ROWING MEDAL

The fleet U.S. women sprinters stand to take the women's 400-meter relay.

The U.S. rowers are expected to take at least four and up to six of the oar races. Harvard's mighty eight, unbeaten in three years, is favored over a strong Canadian crew it whipped in the preliminaries. The Yanks are also picked in the double sculls, pairs with coxswain and fours without coxswain.

The U.S. baseball team, which has never won a title in the game that is the national pastime, lost to Cuba 7-5 yesterday night in a 3½-hour marathon, tying the playoff series 1-1. The deciding game is scheduled tonight.

The U.S. men's volleyball team was awarded the gold on scoring average after finishing in a tie with Brazil and Cuba.

Four men won gold medals and set Pan-Am records in track and field. Ralph Boston, the world record-holder, won the long jump with 27-2½. Tom Gage of Billings, Mont., captured the hammer throw with 214-4. Earl McCulloch of Long Beach, Calif., took the 110-meter hurdles in 13.4 and Larry Young of San Pedro, Calif., won the exhausting 50-kilometer (31-mile) walk in 4:26:20.8.

Eleanor Montgomery of Cleveland won the women's high jump at 5-10, breaking both the Pan-Am and American records previously set by Mildred McDaniel of the United States. Mrs. Cherrie Sherrard of Oakland, Calif., missed the listed world record by one-tenth of a second in winning her heat in the women's 80-meter hurdles in 10.9.

Have-Nots Hover High In Western Open Golf

CHICAGO (AP) — The have-nots of golf's golden tournament tour are making a strong run for the $20,000 first prize of the Western Open.

At the start of today's third round over Beverly's par-embattered lay-out, Labron Harris, son of the Oklahoma State golf coach and 1962 National Amateur champion, led with an eight-under-par 134. In two rounds he has 18 one-putt greens.

Bob Stanton, 21-year-old Australian, and Terry Dill of Austin, Tex., were at 137. South African Bob Verwey and Steve Oppermann, 1964 Western Amateur titlist, were locked at 138.

Harris shot a 68 in yesterday's second round, Stanton a 71, Dill a 66, Verwey a 72 and Opermann a 71.

Verwey's only victory was in the 1965 Alameda Open in California, but he served notice last week by picking up his biggest check of $12,000 for taking second in the Minnesota Classic.

All the other youngsters have yet to win a tour tournament.

Sandwiched into positions in this group are Julius Boros, aiming for his fourth triumph of the year, and Dave Marr, the 1965 National PGA champion, each at 136. Boros fired a 68 Friday and Marr a 66.

A determined Doug Sanders was in the 137 bracket, and John Pott and Mike Souchak were 139.

Some of the year's biggest winners were fighting back from poor starts. Jack Nicklaus was grouped at 140, Gay Brewer at 141, and defending champion Billy Casper, Arnold Palmer and Don January at 142.

The field was cut to 79 players for today's round, and it took 145 or better to make it.

Trophies Given At Bel-Marin Yacht Meeting

Trophies in two events were awards Thursday night by the Bel-Marin Keys Yacht Club at its regular meeting.

Awards for the July 4 boat show were given to: Ralph White, cruisers; Roy Hosking, sailboats, and Jack Sarin, small boats.

The club set Aug. 19 and 20 to visit the Corinthian Y.C. in Belvedere.

C Team Triumphs

The Marin Swim Club C team beat the Strawberry Swim Club 265-201 Tuesday as Jan Cockcroft, John Magee, Tom Luba and Lisa Bergley won three events each. Dan Brock won three for Strawberry.

Lee Back In SF— What About Barry?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The New Orleans release of Clyde Lee to return to San Francisco of the National Basketball Association because, "we believe the Warriors have a binding contract," raised this question today:

May that decision affect another Warrior, Rick Barry, who jumped to the American Basketball Association Oakland Oaks for $225,000 and fringe benefits?

Barry, a super-star in his second year, when he led NBA scoring with a 36.5 average, is the only important defector left.

Lee was one of the first NBA players to go to the new ABA, for a rumored $90,000 for two years. Warrior owner Franklin Mieuli sued Lee and the New Orleans management for $1 million, charging breach of contract.

Later, Barry jumped to Oakland, where his father-in-law, Bruce Hale, is coach.

Mieuli asked Superior Court to order Barry returned, charging violation of the player reserve clause. Barry and the Oaks replied in court that the NBA reserve clause prohibits jumping only to another NBA club, not to the ABA.

Judge Robert Drewes has the case under advisement.

A friend of Lee on the Nashville Banner first reported Lee's release yesterday, jumping the gun on a planned joint news release by the Warriors and Saints.

Mieuli then confirmed the news and told The Associated Press:

"The most significant thing is that the New Orleans management said as legitimate business people, we recognize the NBA contract as a legitimate and binding business contract.

"They wanted to undo the damage done by the people previously in the driver's seat."

Mieuli declined to comment on what effect the Lee release might have on the Barry suit.

He said he would welcome Lee back "with no hard feeling." Lee had telephoned coach Bill Sharman to ask how he might be received.

"I don't think we'll have any trouble getting together on salary," the owner said. "We've never had any problems with anyone regarding money; only with fathers-in-law and singing actors."

The McNultys...Old Pros

By GLENN BECKER

Quarter midget auto racing is not exactly like navigating the Santa Ana Freeway, but you've got to figure that Bill and Pat McNulty, veteran racers not yet in their teens, will be better drivers for their quarter midget experience.

On difference they'll notice, though, when they get old enough to drive the public roads is that there will always be people ahead of them. That often is not the case when Pat, 11½, and Bill, 12, jump into their cars and race around the the quarter midget tracks of Northern California.

Pat and Bill are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick L. McNulty of 224 Picnic Avenue, San Rafael. Their father is foreman at D and S Garage in San Rafael.

TIGHTLY REGULATED

The boys have been driving quarter midgets since they were three and four years old. They race in cars which are tightly regulated in all important respects, and especially for safety, by the Quarter Midgets of America (QMA). The cars are limited in weight to a maximum of 225 pounds and a minimum of 150 pounds. The drivers are limited by age (5-16 years), not be weight, but heavier youngsters do poorly and usually do not compete.

Pat and Bill, pleasant boys both, have compiled enviable records in the past few years, especially at the quarter midget track in Sacramento. Pat set a record there last year and Bill won a big 75-lap race there this year. Bill then won the Western States championship at Sunnyvale, which drew 140 drivers including many girls.

DESIRE TO WIN

Both are good competitors and the fact that they are brothers only strengthens their desire to win when they are in the same races. This was especially true Sunday when Pat showed he would rather finish second than place third while Bill won.

They were racing in the third of three 25-milers in a Bantam Car Club event in Santa Rosa. Bill had finished second in the first race and won the second, while Pat was out of the running for the overall top spot after being forth in the first race and being eliminated for hitting a pile-on (cone shaped track border) in the second.

Starting at the back in the third race, Bill moved up to third behind his chief competitor for overall honors and Pat. Bill had the faster car, but his brother grimly prevented him from passing until it was too late for Bill to catch the leading driver.

Despite their many successes, the boys will not get encouragement from their parents if they seek to move up to bigger cars when they outgrow the quarter midgets.

SCARES MOM

"Truthfully, I don't like racing at all," says Mrs. McNulty. "It scares me, especially when the kids are in it. They never get hurt, though. They have seat belts, leather jackets, gloves, roll bars. . ." The QMA rules give quite detailed specifications for safety precautions drivers and autos must have.

She would not refuse to allow the boys to drive the heavier cars when they are older, however. "Even though I don't like it, it's up to them, I guess — whatever they decide to do."

Her husband expressed much the same view. He warmly supports the quarter midget racing, but is apprehensive about the bigger cars.

"I don't look forward to it, I hope not. I don't want to see them in the midgets or sprint cars — those are dangerous.

"The older one (Bill) really likes driving. I'll just leave it up to him. He's a real good driver; he wins the hard way. Pat's a bit erratic, but they both get good comments at the races."

NO INJURIES

Both Bill and Pat express a desire to drive heavier cars when they get older. Although they have had accidents, neither has been hurt in racing. They worry their mother, though.

"I flipped in front of Mom up at a dirt track in Santa Rosa," says Bill, "the first year we were racing."

"This one's in an accident every time he races," Mrs. McNulty joked, nodding at Pat, who quickly denied the charge.

Actually, they have had one injury between them. Bill chipped a tooth — when he fell from a bicycle.

Mrs. McNulty says her dislike of racing is unusual among the mothers of the quarter midget drivers. "Most of them love it," she says. "I'm just the nervous type."

SOCIAL VALUES

She acknowledges that racing has some values for the boys that a mother can appreciate. "One thing it did for Bill was help him overcome his shyness. It got him out where he could meet people."

That is fine for Bill, but Pat has his objections to the socializing at the tracks.

"I don't care if the girls race," he says in a determined effort to be as fair as possible. "If I were a girl I'd like to race. But I don't like kissing them when they win the races."

Apparently the McNulty boys operate on the theory that if they win the girls won't and thereby solve the kissing problems.

Haunted Namath Glows In Action

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. (AP) — Joe Namath, admittedly beset by personal problems, shrugged them off for a strong 15 minutes of football yesterday night as the $400,000 quarterback helped the New York Jets to a 55-13 trouncing of the Boston Patriots in the first American Football League exhibition for both teams.

Namath went AWOL from the Jets training camp at Peekskill, N.Y., from late Thursday to yesterday afternoon. As he left he told Coach Weeb Ewbank: "My prblem can't wait." Ewbank had asked him to wait until today, a day off for the Jets.

In the predawn hours yesterday, he was seen in East Side New York bars. Returning to the training camp before the team bus left for Bridgeport, he conferred again with Ewbank. A Jets spokesman said Namath then apologized for his absence at a meeting of the team.

NO SIGNS

But on the field, Namath showed no signs of problems of any kind. His passes were on target and he directed the Jets to three early touchdowns against Boston, hitting five of seven throws for 50 yards. All three scores were made by Emerson Boozer, the top runner of the night for both sides. But six interceptions of Boston passes was the deciding factor of the game.

Mike Taliaferro came in to quarterback the Jets for the final three quarters. He hit 16 out of 30 passes for 259 yards, plus two interceptions. His performance delighted Ewbank, who must constantly consider the tentative nature of Namath's right knee.

Joe, beginning his third season, had a between-seasons operation on the knee and said only two weeks ago that it was stronger than at any time in his pro career.

But when a reporter met Namath on a New York street corner at 3:45 a.m. yesterday, Namath kept mumbling, "My knee hurts." Back at the traincamp, Namath said his leaving camp "definitely was not because either of my knees trouble me." His other knee, the left, sufferred a training injury 10 days ago.

MORE MOBILITY

Against the Patriots, however, he seemed to have more mobility than he showed last season. After the game, he declined to elaborate on the personal reasons for his absence from the Jets' camp. Asked if the knees bothered him, he said: "Not even slightly."

Namath's personal life seemed to be the only problem facing the Jets as they faced Boston. One of the six interceptions by the Jets was returned 85 yards for a touchdown by defensive back Solomon Brannan—one of his two thefts of the night. Linebacker Al Atkinson lugged anther 41 yards to a score as the Jets roared to a 42-0 halftime edge.

Baseball Grabs Fat TV Contract

CHICAGO (AP) — Organized baseball, confident it could command a record price, got what it asked for—a record $50 million television contract with the National Broadcasting Co.

Agreement on the three-year contract, which will run from 1969 through 1971, came yesterday at a day-long negotiating session between baseball's television committee and NBC officials.

The current contract is worth about $36 million.

The agreement gives NBC continued rights to the World Series, All-Star games and the Game of The Week, a series that includes 28 weekly telecasts a season.

GAME OF WEEK

Each major league team is expected to participate in the Game of The Week series—which is worth about $300,000 a team under the current pact.

Philadelphia is the only team now out of the series.

Although the contract is the best ever negotiated by baseball, it falls short of the National Football League package that reached about $66 million for a three-year term.

The agreement came as a surprise.

NBC had until Sept. 15 before its option with baseball expired.

Baseball had been prepared to turn to the Columbia Broadcasting System and the American Broadcasting Co. should NBC reject its demands.

FINE RATINGS

One source said that baseball's starting price in the negotiations was $60 million.

Baseball men considered ratings in their favor, particularly after an estimated 45 million viewers watched last month's All-Star game. It was the first time the game had ever been televised at night.

The ratings were "very good, very fine," said John Fetzer of the Detroit Tigers, chairman of the television committee. He said the final price would be based on numbers, an obvious reference to ratings.

Fetzer headed a committee that included Bob Reynolds of the California Angels, Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers, and Roy Hofheinz of the Houston Astros. Sitting in on the talks was William Eckert, commissioner of baseball.

Upsets Prevail In Mill Valley Tennis Finals

It followed form by not following form.

The upsets that were the rule every day continued yesterday from the start as Peter Morris of San Francisco whipped top-seeded John O'Connell in the Boys 12 final 6-4, 6-1.

It ended only with the last match, when the first-ranked Boys 18 doubles team of Steve Sansome of Eureka and Steve McDonald of Tiburon bowed to second-seeded Allan Otvos of Kensington and Ken Mordoff of San Leandro 5-7, 6-2, 6-3.

Barry Brink was finally halted yesterday in the Boys 18 finals when Bill Washauer of San Francisco took an easy 6-2, 6-1 win.

Sharon Walsh of San Rafael was soundly thumped in the Girls 16 final at 10 a.m. by Chris Slade of Redwood City 6-1, 6-2, but returned at 1 p.m. to whip Barbara Downs of Alamo 6-3, 6-2 for the Girls 18 title. All three were unseeded.

Other results (seed in parentheses):

SINGLES — Boys 14 — Chip Fisher (1), Palo Alto, d. Bob Knight, Tiburon, 6-0, 6-1; Boys 16 — Ken Mordoff (1), San Leandro, d. Fisher (4) 6-3, 6-4; Girls 12 — Bee Kilgore, Belvedere, d. Susan Mehmedbasich, El Cerrito, 6-2, 6-4; Girls 14 — Mary Miller, San Carlos, d Andrea Barnes, San Francisco, 6-4, 6-1.

DOUBLES — Boys 16 — Fisher and Bruce Kellock, Richmond, (1) d. Jerred Frandsen, Sacramento, and Dan Chadbourne, San Mateo (2), 6-2, 6-3; Girls 14 — Ann LaMott, Tiburon, and Bee Kilgore (1) d. Mary Miller and Maureen Kennedy, San Francisco, 7-5, 8-6; Girls 18 — Donna Kellock, Richmond, and Chris Slade (1) d. Sharon Walsh and Marilyn Knight, Belvedere, 6-3, 7-5.

Clippers Meet Tailenders

OAKLAND (AP) The Oakland Clippers, hoping to widen their big first place margin in the National Professional Soccer League before they hit the road, play the tailend Toronto Falcons tomorrow.

Game time in the Coliseum is an early 12:30 p.m.

The Clippers have the leading goalie, Mirko Stojanovic, who has shut out the opposition 8 times in 25 games and allowed only 27 goals for an excellent 1.08 average. He's the only goalie who has played in every game. Oakland also is the highest scoring team with 52 goals.

Oakland is 15-5-5 and Toronto 8-14-3. Oakland leads St. Louis by 26 points in the Western Division.

FOOTBALL

CHICAGO — Massive Bubba Smith said yesterday he would report as scheduled to the camp of the National Football League Baltimore Colts.

The Michigan State All-America is due today.

Smith, who played well for the College All-Stars in their 27-0 loss to Green Bay, declined to discuss his difference with the Colts, calling them personal.

The defensive lineman was quoted earlier yesterday as saying that he would not report to the Colts because the Baltimore team cut his brother — Willie Ray Smith — from its roster.

GOLF

LAKE FOREST, Ill. — Candace Michaeloff of Minneapolis won the Women's Western tournament with a 3 and 2 victory over medalist Marsha Houghton.

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Kathy Whitworth, 28-year-old Texan, shot a one-under-par 71 and took a one stroke lead after the first round of the Ladies Professional Golf Association's Midwest Open.

Marin's Nearer Realizing Potential Of An Industry

MANY HAVE LONG recognized the need for attracting industry to Marin to "broaden the tax base."

When a new residential tract develops, it produces needs for governmental services that often exceed the amount of new tax income the new tract produces for local governmental agencies.

Many times, new tracts have meant additional children in such numbers as to require the construction of a new school, costing far more than the property owners of the new tract would pay in taxes.

The idea of an increase in industry is most attractive. Valuable industrial plants pay high taxes and send not one additional child to school. The police, fire protection and other needs of industry are minimal.

To repeat, the need for attracting industry to broaden the tax base has long been recognized.

ATTRACTING INDUSTRY to Marin is not easy. Land prices are high here. The amount of reasonably flat, solid ground is limited. We do not have unlimited supplies of cheap water readily available — an inducement to most industry. We do not have a major scientific educational institution here. Our conservationists are understandably and properly concerned lest we attract undesirable industries which would do violence to the natural beauty with which Marin is blessed.

All of this points inevitably to the "visitor industry" as the best solution.

The beauty which we wish to preserve and protect is one of our main attractions for visitors. Development of a visitor industry would seem to be largely compatible with our strong preservation and conservation desires.

This, too, has long been recognized.

Success has been limited and slow coming.

While we have five state parks, a national monument, a Spanish mission, a national seashore and numerous officially recognized historic sites, our visitor industry has not really begun to approach its potential.

We have lacked adequate, attractive lodging facilities.

Rancho Rafael at Nicasio was conceived when built some years ago as a magnet for visitors. It never achieved its potential. The same could be said of the Edgewater Inn at Corte Madera and more recently of the Thunderbird Lodge at Novato.

Each of the institutions has been somewhat less than a howling success. Big promoters and developers of resort-convention motels have consequently been discouraged from investing in Marin.

Although it is away from the highway and can not depend on casual passers-by, it nevertheless has experienced a high rate of occupancy.

It has begun to draw its share of meetings which attract participants from around the northern part of the state. It has accommodated individual visitors from many states and foreign countries.

In short, it has shown that a proper Marin hostelry can succeed, to the benefit of all of the County.

RANCHO RAFAEL AND Edgewater Inn have changed hands, and there is indication that the new owners plan to revitalize these two potentially fine places. There are signs that the Lodge at Novato may be on the verge of solving some of its problems.

The success of the Tiburon Lodge may have inspired some of the other moves. At least it is an example of what can be done. It is an example of how success can be achieved by providing the right facilities, properly managed.

There are indications that an even larger, more lavish resort convention motel is in the planning stage for a site in the vicinity of Northgate.

The Commerce Clearing House conference center planned for Quail Hill at Northgate will bring numerous visitors.

The addition of a San Francisco-Oakland Helicopter pad in the Civic Center area could be the deciding factor for the success of the conference center and the projected motel.

Meanwhile, the Marin Visitors Bureau and the Marin County Chamber of Commerce (which already embraces the old Marin Industrial Development Association) move ever closer to consolidation.

All-in-all, it appears that Marin finally is on the threshold of some real progress toward realizing the vast potential of visitor industry development here.

Bouquets And Brickbats

BRICKBATS to the State Board of Pharmacy for refusing Drake Pharmacy permission to use these words in its advertising: "We will be happy to show you written proof of considerable savings received by others." We cannot see how the board of pharmacy can be performing real public service by suppressing this information, which would let people who need medicine know how they can save money on their purchases.

BOUQUETS to the Marin City Mothers Guild, the Economic Opportunity Council workers, and individual citizens who are carrying on a quiet campaign to maintain law and order in the community.

A BOUQUET to Paul L. Jones of San Rafael Board of Education for frankness in discussing school district taxes. He noted that the school board was not discussing the possibility of lower taxes, because higher assessments will automatically mean higher taxes. Said he: "Don't let anybody get the idea we are; we're just talking about whether to take all we might." Rare candor such as this deserves an accolade.

BOUQUETS to college students Jay Slattery and Coulter Adams of Sausalito, who completed an 18,000-mile hitch-hiking tour through North Africa and the Middle East. The spirit of adventure is not dead.

A BOUQUET to Robert Foster, sports editor of Marin County High Times, who was one of three winners of a high school journalism contest sponsored by San Francisco's Ripley Believe It Or Not Museum.

EXAMPLE OF PARENTS MAKES DIFFERENCE

A parent who disregards traffic signs or who neglects the rules of the road while driving may unknowingly pass on these faults to his offspring. So says Ray Strong, a safety engineer.

He emphasized that while driving habits are imitated along with other traits, good practices are just as easily remembered as bad ones.

There is little danger of exaggerating the deep and lasting impression that parents leave on their sons and daughters as the result of what they do—or fail to do.

Whether it is in the confines of the home, in the family car or in any other situation, young people are constantly reacting to the comments and actions of their elders, for better or for worse.

Parents who make a conscientious effort to give the children entrusted to them by God the best possible example find that they require a minimum of correction. As Joseph Joubert said over a century ago: "Children need models more than they need critics."

"Show yourself in all respects a model of good deeds." (Titus 2:7)

Help me to realize the effects of my example, O Lord.

Bolinas Story Had Inexactitudes

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Allow me to point out some terminological inexactitudes in the I-J's front page report last Saturday on a meeting in Bolinas on incorporation.

It was called by the Lions Club, not to back incorporation but to broach the subject. The Lions were out to explain the matter, not rally supporters.

They brought in a man with experience in these matters — effect on raising taxes, hiring local police and fire departments, city control instead of county, etc.

The informal meeting did not endorse incorporation, nor did even a majority there seem to favor it. It was obvious the Lions committee wanted it, but the audience was far from agreement.

An impassioned plea by Mr. Irwin, pioneer aviator, for preserving the rusticity and rural peacefulness of the town and lagoon got more applause than any other remark

A suspicion seemed to permeate some quarters of the audience that commercialization of the Bolinas Lagoon was lurking behind the move, although nothing was said on this in the presentation.

There does seem to be a notable absence of hamburger snack joints, boatels, bars, juke boxes, neon lights and other manifestations of go-go civilization around that lagoon.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

The Armed Services Center building at Boyd Park in San Rafael closed after serving Hamilton Air Force Base men and other servicemen for four years.

The federal government approved financing for construction of 300 low-rent homes in Marin City at a cost of more than $4 million.

20 YEARS AGO

Voters in the Tamalpais Valley Fire District voted nearly 3 to 1 in favor of levying a 30-cent tax rate for developing and improving fire prevention in the district.

Cascade Reservoir in Mill Valley was drained when vandals opened the flood gates and water rushed down Cascade Creek through the city.

Why Not Make Edible Containers? Drink Beer, Then Munch On Can

NEW YORK (AP) — This may be a typical conversation in the future:

Guest: "The fenders?"

Hostess: "No. The fenders on that particular car model are a bit tough, so I ground them up as hamburger for our dog. For the stew I used mostly the dashboard and choice filets from the brake bands. They are ever so much more tender."

Sounds far-fetched? Well, at the moment it is. But perhaps not for long.

According to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, scientists of the Ralston-Purina Co. have raised the possibility of making airplanes and spacecraft with edible portions made of soybean products.

They would keep from starvation astronauts marooned on the moon or plane pilots stranded after crash landings in remote areas of the earth.

THE IDEA IS fascinating. But why limit it merely to parts of aircraft and space capsules?

As most husbands who have ever eaten a precooked and frozen television dinner know, practically anything can be made edible today. Modern chemistry can make almost any substance palatable, particularly if you salt it enough and cover it with a few inches of catsup.

This raises the possibility of solving forever one of the biggest problems facing today's civilization: how to keep it from being covered up by its own debris.

We are in danger today of being strangled by the things we don't consume but can't seem quite able to get rid of entirely.

OUR WASTEBASKETS and garbage cans are stuffed with paper wrapping and nonreturnable bottles, those cardboard sheets the laundry puts in shirts, that clinging filmy plastic the cleaner puts around suits and dresses.

Our closets are full of wire clothes hangers that breed and multiply in the dark faster than we can throw them away.

Discarded plastic detergent containers bob in our lakes and rivers. Millions of worn-out automobiles, in sad cemeteries of the machine age, despoil our our lovely countryside. Beer cans litter shoulders and ditches bordering every highway.

Why? Simply because it isn't edible.

WHY CAN'T science concentrate on making them out of a low-caloric, tasty protein fiber? All that would be required would be the shifting around of a few molecules here and there to change one substance into another.

Think how much money you'd save if you could pour milk over the chopped-up container it came in and eat the crunchy container as a breakfast food.

Wouldn't it be nice if, after draining a can of beer, you could munch on the can as if it were a cracker or a cookie?

The same thing could be done with most furniture, draperies and clothing. They could be made edible, too.

"You want a new dress, dear? Not until you eat the old one."

As a gesture to international good will, science might even develop edible casings for hydrogen bombs. Then, at a given signal, the inhabitants of every nation might hold a vast world picnic at which they'd eat the bomb casings en masse, thus giving mankind, for the first time in its history, peace and a full stomach simultaneously.

Negro Leaders Symbolize Peace, Violence, Struggle

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three men symbolize the struggle for the mind and the progress of the American Negro. All three are Negroes: Clarence Mitchell, Stokely Carmichael and H. Rap Brown.

Mitchell has worked almost his whole adult life for justice and peaceful solution through law and order for Negroes. Carmichael and Brown are apostles of violence.

THREE RECENT statements by these men illuminate not only the different roads they have chosen to follow — and the kind of appeal they make to the Negro mind — but the choice Negroes have open to them.

"The haters, both white and non-white," Mitchell said this week in a talk in Atlanta, "are now operating on the same wave-length. They both want to resegregate the country."

"They are a small minority, but they are a dangerous minority. They are dangerous because some of them are reckless enough to carry out wild schemes of destruction."

The Associated Press reported that in a three-hour news conference, from which U.S. reporters were barred, Carmichael said in Cuba where he is the guest of Fidel Castro:

"ONE GOOD thing about the Vietnam war (he never served in it since he was never drafted) is that the United States has taught us how to kill."

He called for Negro guerrilla uprisings in this country.

Brown, charged with inciting to riot in Cambridge, Md., but free on bond while he awaits an extradition hearing on the charge, made a speech in Cambridge immediately before the riot July 24.

Wednesday the Cambridge chief of police, Brice Kinnamon, told the Senate Judiciary Committee Brown's speech was not only inflammatory but was "the sole reason for our riot."

Kinnamon produced a recorded speech which, the police chief said, Brown made to the Cambridge Negroes. In part it said:

"I MEAN, don't be trying to love that hunky white man to death; shoot him to death, 'cause that's what he's out to do to you. Do to him what he would like to do to you, but do it to him first."

Brown reportedly said the town should be burned down but advised his listeners to do the burning in the white sections of Cambridge.

Mitchell is 57 but he has been working for the advancement of Negroes for 30 years, which is longer than Brown, 23, and Carmichael, 26, have been alive.

He worked for government, state and Negro agencies—all involved in Negro problems—and 22 years ago he went with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

HE HAS been the NAACP's Washington representative since then. He has hardly any private life.

He lives in Baltimore where he has a wife, Juanita, an NAACP lawyer there, and four sons. He comes to Washington every day and works until 8 p.m. or later with senators and representatives on bills affecting Negroes, goes to committee hearings to testify or listen, or to see Justice Department lawyers, or to the White House, or to various meetings—and then on weekends has to fly around the country to attend meetings.

This has been his life 22 years, day in and out. He is a husky man with a temper he keeps controlled. He is not doing it for money. The NAACP is not a place to get rich. He has dedicated his life to this job.

It was the NAACP which, after years of preliminary test cases leading up to the big one, got the Supreme Court in 1954 to outlaw segregation as unconstitutional. This cut the barrier to Negro progress.

IF IT WEREN'T for the work of Mitchell and the NAACP, Negroes in America would probably be as segregated today as they were 100 year ago.

TO BE EQUAL

Negroes Starving In Areas Of South

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG JR.

Do you know that here in America, in the world's richest country, people are starving?

I'm not talking about famine in India, or hunger in countries many miles away, without adequate food production. I'm talking about the USA, which throws out more food in a day than many countries eat in a year.

A TEAM of doctors returned from Mississippi and told Congress that the health of poor children there was "pitiful" and "unbelievable." They said that many children were "suffering from hunger and disease and directly or indirectly they are dying from them. . ."

A health survey of children entering the Head Start program in Shelby County, Tenn., found that almost half suffered from "a mild anemia which would correct itself with better food."

In thousands of homes adults and children skip meals and make do with dinners of grits and bread, never eating the milk, meat and fruits needed for nourishment.

The situation has become so bad that the Office of Economic Opportunity has granted a million dollars to pay for food stamps for people who can't afford them in some southern counties. But this program is an emergency one limited to the next few months.

THERE ARE two kinds of federal food programs for the poor. In one, surplus foods are distributed. In the other, food stamps are sold to the poor who can turn them in to local stores to purchase food having greater value than the cost of the stamps.

The catch is that, although these are federal programs, local authorities must ask for one of the programs and then administer it, deciding who qualifies for them. As a result, most poor people don't participate in the program.

In South Carolina, for example, less than 2 per cent of the poor took part in federal food programs. In all 15 southern and border states, more than three million poor people had no access to any federal food program and in the areas that had such programs, only one million out of seven million poor took part in them.

Another problem comes from the inability of many persons to afford even the cheap food stamps. Many thousands of Negro sharecroppers have been forced off the land, replaced by machines, and they exist outside the money economy.

IT DOES NO good to tell them that if they buy $11 worth of food stamps, they can get $45 worth of food at the local market — they just don't have the $11.

Food stamps should be made available free to all who need them, and if local authorities abuse their power, federal officials should decide who gets the stamps.

EXISTING federal agencies can handle food distribution to the poor in these areas, and if they are unwilling to take on this burden, then the Red Cross or other agencies should be delegated the task.

These states have exploited Negro labor and now that mechanization is widespread they don't need the Negro's labor. So food has become a weapon in the racist arsenal. We are too rich a nation to tolerate such a horrible situation.

CARDINAL WYSZINSKI

Has Polish Cardinal Lost His Popularity At Vatican?

WARSAW (UPI)—Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski, head of Poland's Roman Catholic Church and the toughest opponent of his country's Communist regime, celebrated his 66th birthday Thursday amid speculation the Vatican may not love him as much as his people do.

Even though he is still four years away from the age at which the Pope asked old bishops and cardinals to make way for the new, his future is uncertain. It is linked with one question—whether or not the church and the Communist party in Poland can co-exist.

The cardinal has been a dedicated, determined, vocal scrapper in his fight to preserve the faith in a nation governed by men philosophically devoted to root "superstition" out of the fabric of the country.

There is no reason to believe the Communist government will disappear. And there is no doubt that the church will survive. There are 16 million more practicing Catholics in Poland than there are Communists.

There have been times when Wyszynski has been accused of going out of his way to antagonize the government. Without a doubt, there has been times the church has been hurt by blunders and tactlessness.

Recently, the Vatican assigned a man to Warsaw who could be Wyszynski's successor. He is Karol Cardinal Wojtyla of Cracow, 47, a young progressive cardinal. His appointment has been viewed as both weakening Wyszynski's position and as balancing his authority.

The appointment came at a time when the Vatican is seeking warmer relations with socialist nations. And at a time when Wyszynski refused to soften his attitude toward the Polish government.

Relations between the church and state dipped sharply in November, 1965, when Wyszynski and the Polish episcopate sent a reconciliatory letter to the German hierarchy inviting German bishops to attend the millennium celebration of Polish Catholicism on May 3, 1966.

The government reacted sharply. It refused to let church officials travel outside the country, refused to let Pope Paul attend the ceremonies, and began a series of harassments against the church.

Polish relations with Germany inevitably involve the permanence of Polish rule over some of Germany's eastern territories detached at the Potsdam conference in 1945. West Germany contends the line was tentative, to be revised at a subsequent peace conference. Poland rejects this contention on grounds the Potsdam conference was final.

The storm of protest came because the church offered the olive branch, acting on its own, without the ritual restatement of the sanctity of the present western frontier. And, secondly, projected the church into the arena of foreign relations.

Even some of the faithful sided with the government—they felt the church had asked the pardon of the barbarian.

The cardinal began a series of renewed pulpit attacks. And the government began a series of harassments.

On church holidays, soccer games between top national teams were rescheduled to start at noon, an extraordinarily early hour, in an effort to keep people from attending services. On last year's Roman Catholic Holy Day, a national holiday, state television began broadcasting early in the morning instead of mid-day and carried such imposing attractions as Doris Day, Bonanza and the Beatles.

It was shortly after this that the first evidence of Vatican disenchantment was seen.

Bishop Agostino Casaroli arrived as a special Vatican envoy to "study Polish Catholic life." Wyszynski received him coolly and did not mention publicly that he was in the country.

And he remained silent on the Vatican decision to remove four bishops in the western territories from his authority and place them directly under the Pope.

To his people, however, the cardinal remains a hero whose love for Christianity is matched only by his love for Poland.

He was born 60 miles from Warsaw in a small village in 1901. He found his vocation early and was ordained at the age of 23. He studied in Poland's Catholic University in Lublin, and later traveled in Italy, France, Belgium and Germany before becoming a lecturer in social sciences and Canon law at Lublin from 1930 until 1939.

He taught in underground universities during the six years of Nazi occupation. As the postwar tide of communism engulfed eastern Europe, the Vatican named him in 1949 as primate to replace ailing Cardinal Hlond.

Communists began to pressure him, and forced him into seclusion in the mountain monastery in 1953, only a few months after he was named a cardinal. In late 1956, revolution against the Stalinists rocked the country and he returned to power with Communist leader Wladyslaw Gomulka, a man from the same peasant stock as Wyszynski.

Wyszynski has never been considered an intellectual nor a modernist in church thinking. The new cardinal, Wojtyla, is and this could cause friction or balance.

Wojtyla was born May 18, 1920 in the small industrial town of Wadowice near Cracow, a traditional seat of Polish cardinals.

Catholic Priest Heads Giant Poverty Program

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP—Aiming at what he calls total involvement in community life, a Roman Catholic priest has been granted an indefinite leave from his church duties to direct New Mexico's multimillion-dollar war on poverty.

Some eyebrows were raised when Gov. David F. Cargo appointed Rev. Robert Garcia, 32, first as acting director and later permanent director of the state Office of Economic Opportunity this year.

FINAL SERMON — Rev. Wesley C. Baker will present his final sermon tomorrow at the First Presybertian Church of San Rafael. He an his family will be honored at a reception between 3 and 5 p.m. tomorrow at the church. Rev. Baker will begin duties Aug. 21 in ecumenical relations of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A. in New York.

CONTROVERSY

Father Garcia has jumped into his new job with both feet, sometimes kicking up controversy as he works with the federal government to push the war on poverty in many poor New Mexican areas, particularly in the northern portion of the state.

Garcia, who doesn't care if persons use the "father" when addressing him, said he has been called a "rebel, a radical doctrinally unorthodox, and perhaps even a heretic." But the priest, no longer wearing clerical garb, is not concerned about his status in the "institutional" church—that is, the traditional parish approach to community problems and affairs.

"As has been said, we need to bring the church out of the cloister and into the market place, out of the temple into the city. What has the church been doing with its head in the temple all these years?"

CHURCH-STATE

Garcia wants a fuller involvement in human problems by the clergy, including government, politics, problems of living, and personal assistance. He sees no problem over separation of church and state.

"There is no comparison between the fulfillment of parish work and this work (antipoverty program," he said. "This is one area where the action is, whereas the parish structure is fairly constrictive in working where the action is."

He said he is "doing more fully what the pastor is supposed to be doing . . . of what Christian life is supposed to be doing."

He receives $10,500 annually from the state and applies the money to his private use and not to the church.

Guest Speaker Is Announced

Rev. Ilion T. Jones, professor emeritus of practical theology at San Francisco Theological Seminary, will be guest preacher at the 10:30 a.m. service tomorrow at the Sleepy Hollow Presbyterian Church, 100 Tarry Road, San Anselmo.

His sermon topic will be "Thanksgiving and Thanksliving."

Rev. Jones will also preach on Sunday, Aug. 13, at the 10:30 a.m. service. His topic will be "God Everlasting —Yes!"

Novato Church To Have Pulpit Guest

"When God Is Localized" will be the topic of tomorrow's 8:30 and 11 a.m. sermons by Rev. Ray Magnuson at the Novato Community Methodist Church.

Rev. Magnuson, a recently retired Methodist minister, resides in Santa Rosa.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL OPENS MONDAY

Attorney Gives Up $30,000 Job, Sundays For Ministry

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A 42-year-old man put in his first day last Sunday on a new job that pays $22,500 less than his previous position and forces him to work on Sundays.

Rev. John Thomas Moen delivered his first sermon at the Hope Lutheran Church in San Diego, a $7,500 job, and officially terminated a $30,000 position as an attorney.

Moen, formerly a partner in a prominent Orange County law firm, received his divinity degree from Wartburg Theological Seminary, Dubuque, Iowa, in May.

He was ordained into the ministry last Sunday at the Grace Lutheran Church in Anaheim.

"I felt the situation facing us in the world today could be helped by returning to the true precepts of Christianity," explained Rev. Moen.

The death of his father, Arthur T. Moen, on Sept. 1, 1962, prompted Moen's decision to join the ministry. The elder Moen was the senior commander of landing forces in North Africa and Guadalcanal during World War II.

Rev. Moen arrived at Wartburg in February, 1964, and was promptly asked by the seminary president to formulate incorporation articles for an association of theological facilities in Iowa.

Novatan Presented Medal For Heroism

Capt. Kenneth D. Murphy, son of Mrs. Pauline M. Murphy of 9 Elmwood Court, Novato, has been awarded his second Distinguished Flying Cross for heroism in air rescue operations with the Air Force in Southeast Asia.

Captain Murphy distinguished himself during a night helicopter rescue mission near Nakhon Phanom Royal Thai Air Force Base, Thailand, when he made an open field landing to recover a downed pilot, risking mid-air collision with descending flare containers.

OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE — William F. Lawson of 133 DuBois Street, San Rafael, has won the Army's outstanding performance award for his work as a contract specialist with the U. S. Army Northwest Procurement Agency in Oakland.

HONOR STUDENT — Leslie E. Kardon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Kardon of 12 Trellis Drive, San Rafael, has been named to the Dean's List at the University of Rochester, Rochester, New York, for the spring semester.

GETS PROMOTION — Marine Pfc. Richard W. Kern, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Kern of 56 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, was promoted to his present rank while serving at Da Nang Air Base with Maintenance Squadron-17, Marine Aircraft Wing.

JOINS NAVY — Terry L. Brawdy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis R. Brawdy, of 32 Knoll Road, San Rafael, is taking basic training at San Diego Naval Training Station. He was graduated from San Rafael High School.

NEW DEAN — Cal Thacker of 1269 Lynwood Drive, Novato, has been appointed associate dean in inter-school relations at Cogswell Polytechnical College in San Francisco.

RETURNS HOME — Seaman John H. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Houghton S. Hall of 75 Wellington Avenue, San Anselmo, has returned to Long Beach aboard the guided missile frigate USS England, from a recent tour in the Western Pacific.

NEW ASSIGNMENT — Dental Apprentice Robert P. Jacobsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ordell F. Jacobsen of 46 Alexander Avenue, San Rafael, has reported for duty at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station in Santa Ana.

ATLANTIC DUTY — Seaman Richard P. Duncan, ward of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stanley Ross of 55 Ramona Way in Novato, is serving aboard the support ship Ozark, based at Charleston, South Carolina.

MARINE TRAINING — Marine Lance Corp. Kevin J. Sharp, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Sharp of 1350 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, is attending a two-week training course with his Marine air squadron at Cherry Point, North Carolina.

HONOR ROLL — Donald R. Canfield II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald R. Canfield, 52 Graceland Drive, San Rafael, has been named to the spring semester honor roll at Washington State University.

KAUAI SCHOOL — Preston Lea, son of Dr. and Mrs. Preston Lea of Kentfield is attending a six-week summer session at the Swope School on the island of Kauai in Hawaii.

Marijuana Report Held Groundless

A report July 24 by Sausalito School District trustee James E. Muldoon that a Richardson Bay School pupil picked up a marijuana habit at school "has proved groundless," board chairman David E. Freedheim said yesterday.

"Our superintendent has investigated the allegations, and we have found that no illegal transaction regarding the handling of marijuana has happened within our schools," he stated. In the future, he said, "charges will be turned over to the proper authorities."

Muldoon had told trustees that a 12-year-old Sausalito girl at the school had been withdrawn from the district by her mother because the girl alleged a schoolmate had sold her marijuana cigarettes.

Freedheim said yesterday that Supt. Phillip W. Schneider had reported on his investigation to trustees in a closed meeting Wednesday night following a public budget hearing. The closed meeting was not announced in edvance, he noted, "but we wanted to hear his report as soon as possible."

Special Sermon

"Why Do Good People Suffer?" is the question which Rev. John J. Canoles will use as the basis for his sermon at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Novato Presbyterian Church. The sermon topic was requested by friends of Dr. Canoles. He will use the Book of Job as the basis for his presentation.

Marin Planners To Study Mobile Home Request

The Marin County Planning Commission will hear a proposal for a mobile home park east of Novato and staff presentation of a county farm master plan Monday.

The meeting will begin a 9 a.m. in Civic Center.

San Rafael depeloper Paul Sade seeks rezoning of a 50-acre site off Olive Avenue to permit a park of 280 mobile homes. The Black Point Improvement Association has opposed the plan, first presented to the commission July 10.

Further discussion also is scheduled on a controversial plan for a service station at Merrydale and North San Pedro Roads in San Rafael Meadows.

Special Guest

Special guest at Holy Innocents' Episcopal Church, 2 Tamalpais Boulevard, Corte Madera, tomorrow at the 8 and 10 a.m. services will be Rev. Michael Harper, London priest and evangelist. He is the author of "As In The Beginning." Rev. Harper is en route to a series of meetings in Australia.

By LOUISE TEATHER
Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society Historian

Last June 24 the research vessel Virginia City cast off lines and departed from the pier at the Tiburon Oceanographic Center, bound for the offshore waters of California, Oregon and Alaska to seek new sources of heavy metals, particularly gold.

Ninety years ago other ships sailed from this same deep-water anchorage on much the same route.

Their destination was the Alaskan codfish banks.

THIS SITE ON the east side of the Tiburon Peninsula two and one-half miles from downtown Tiburon has seen a steady succession of ships since a codfish curing plant was located there in 1877. After the fishing schooners came naval vessels to load coal, then the California Maritime Academy's first training ship, and, during World War II and later, net tenders and tugs.

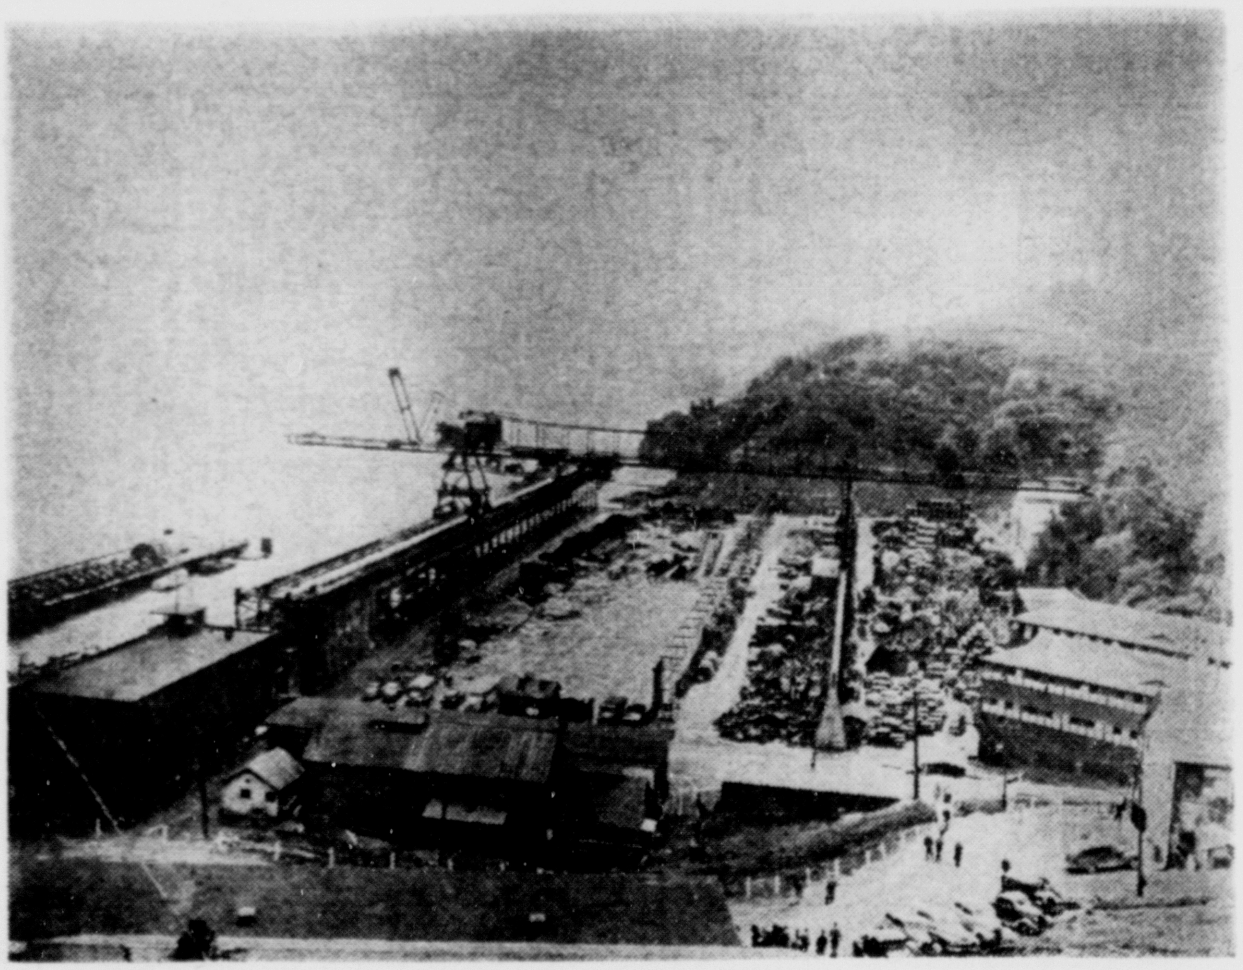
THE NET that protected San Francisco Bay during World War II was made and placed by men from the Tiburon Naval Net Depot. Weighing 6,000 tons, the net stretched for seven miles from Sausalito to the San Francisco Marina. (U.S. Navy photo)



THIS 1943 PHOTO of the Tiburon Naval Net Depot shows the coal storage area filled in and covered, but some of the cooling station equipment still in place. The gantries, later removed, were used at first to handle the heavy nets.

In between were lumber schooners and barges. Now vessels are sent on research missions from the oceanographic center.

A pioneer firm in the Pacific Coast codfish industry, Lynde & Hough, first discovered the area and in 1877 began buying property. Eventually they acquired 62 acres.

A COMPLETE plant was built to cure the codfish brought back from Alaska by their big fleet of fishing schooners — vessels with such names as Dashing Wave, Undaunted and May Queen.

By the early 1880s Lynde & Hough was one of the three principal firms engaged in codfishing on the Pacific Coast. The others were the Thomas W. McCollam Co. and the Nicholas Bichard Co. All had curing plants in the Tiburon-Belvedere area.

McCollam had located at "Pescada Landing," on the present West Shore Road in Belvedere, at about the same time Lynde & Hough came to the Tiburon Peninsula.

BICHARD WAS associated with Belvedere's pioneer settler, Israel Kashow, whose curing yards were on the present Beach Road.

In 1904 Lynde & Hough and the McCollam interests merged as the Union Fish Co., which continued to cure codfish on the west side of Belvedere until a 1937 fire destroyed most of the buildings. The firm moved to San Francisco and is now a sales agency.

Codfish, caught and packed in Nova Scotia, comprises 10 to 15 per cent of their business.

COAL FOLLOWED cod at the old Lynde & Hough site, and thousands of tons were dumped and stored during the next 20 years where cod once dried in the open air and sun.

The U.S. government purchased the property in 1904 and establishing a coaling station for Naval vessels. Completed in 1908, it served through World War I. In 1915 an official visitor

THE TIBURON Oceanographic Center is the modern occupant of the site once a codfishery, then in turn a coaling station, nautical school and net depot. The center is used for research by two bureaus of the U. S. Department of the Interior: Mines, and Sport Fisheries and Wildlife. (Independent-Journal photo).

Ships In Search Of Cod And Gold

was the assistant secretary of the navy, Franklin D. Roosevelt.

By 1930 the navy had become almost exclusively oil-burning, and the coaling station was on inactive status.

THEN, IN 1931, the cadets came. They comprised the entering class of the California Nautical School, now the California Maritime Academy, for this was the first location of the state institution which trains officers for the merchant marine.

The cadets used the old coaling station buildings and had to sweep away coal before they could start their drilling exercises on the grounds. In December, 1931, the school's first training ship, California State, departed on the first ocean cruise.

The first class of 44 cadets was graduated in 1933.

BY 1940 WAR clouds had appeared and the navy requested that the academy vacate the property. It is now located on Carquinez Straits just south of Vallejo.

Meanwhile, on nine acres now part of the present oceanographic center, other phases of the story had taken place. Heavy logs arrived during the 1920s on coastal schooners such as the Cotton Eva and Frank D. Stout and were stockpiled for re-shipment east on bigger vessels.

In 1933 the property was purchased by John A. Roebling's Sons Co. and used for reeling wire for cables of the Golden Gate Bridge and as a storage and transfer point. Materials were taken to the bridge site by barge.

The coal storage area on the original property was filled and covered as a new chapter began: the Tiburon Naval Net Depot. Commissioned Aug. 1, 1940, the depot was a vital navy installation all during World War II. Thousands of men were trained in the handling of nets and booms and hundreds of nets were manufactured for West Coast and Pacific bases.

The dramatic story of installing the net which protected San Francisco Bay during World War II emerged only after the war.

LAYING THE hand-made, 6,000-ton, seven-mile net from Sausalito to the San Francisco Marina was the depot's first and biggest job. Technically it was started illegally, since the navy had no authority to close harbors during peacetime, but on Dec. 7, 1941, it was 85 per cent complete. An executive order from President Franklin D. Roosevelt gave authority to finish the job.

After World War II, with nets still important in defense, the base was a training center for naval men from this and a score of allied countries. It also was re-activated during the Korean War as the net supply and repair depot for the Pacific.

With advance of the atomic age, nets for defense against submarines and torpedoes became less vital, and the Tiburon Naval Net Depot was closed in 1958.

Tiburon Uplands Park, a county reserve, occupies 18.6 acres above Paradise Drive. Paradise Beach County Park is the 19-acre former Floating Dry Dock Training Center annex.

THE NAVY having declared the net depot surplus to its needs, the General Services Administration is in the process of transferring the property to the Bureau of Mines of the Department of the Interior, which will administer the land and facilities. This is one of two bureaus operating research programs at which is now called the Tiburon Oceanographic Center.

The Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife moved to the center in 1961. Operating locally as the Tiburon Marine Laboratory, it conducts Pacific sport fish research ranging from Mexico to Canada. Not only boats but aircraft and a midget submarine are used.

The Bureau of Mines, operating as the Marine Minerals Technology Center, came in 1963. It is the bureau's only center in the United States working solely on the marine environment in mining research. The 205-foot Virginia City is the largest of three research vessels.

The navy is still there, too, on three acres and the south dock, retained for instrument testing.

CMDR. Stanley M. Haight, U. S. Navy, was the first commanding officer of the Tiburon Naval Net Depot when it was commissioned in 1940. He is now a rear admiral, retired.

exciting concepts from Orinda pools

One reason more people are buying ORINDA pools this year is because ORINDA pools cost less to buy. Your ORINDA custom pool representative, in fact, can show you on paper that, not only is the base price lower in most cases, but when you add the options you want, the price advantage of an ORINDA pool becomes even greater.

And because it is an ORINDA pool, you get all the advantages of an ORINDA pool. The uncommon luxury of design and engineering by Orinda, and styling leadership that has made ORINDA Pools the best selling in northern California.

All of which is still just the beginning. *A giant Laars boiler is included with the 1967 Orinda Custom Royal Series providing low cost heating year long. You also have the traditionally conservative value of an ORINDA pool to enjoy. On top of all the other advantages.

Landscaping The Hillsides

HILLSIDE SITES with their limited space and steep terrain can pose real problems for the landscaper. But they can also be regarded as challenges and even as opportunities by the imaginative outdoor designer. The Ken Molino photographs at right show how Marin landscape architects Katy and Paul Steinmetz capitalize upon such situations. At top, the husband-and-wife team of designers came up with a pergola and bathhouse arrangement that still left plenty of space around the pool, despite the limited Kent Woodlands site. The pool is large, but the tapered design creates an illusion of even greater length. In center photo, another Kent Woodlands hillside site seemed to provide scant opportunity for a swimming pool. The Steinmetzes, however, solved the dilemma by hanging the pool on the hillside, and adding space around the pool by extending a deck out from the edge of the pool. The pool level coincided with the lower story of the home and opened out of a family room. First floor and living room level has access to the pool via a dramatic spiral staircase. Pool shape conforms interestingly to the contours of the land, to ease the job of anchoring pool to the hillside. Hans Vielhauer was the landscape contractor, Tropicana the poolbuilder. In bottom photo, the hillside seemed to be tumbling down toward the front door of his home. The Steinmetzes designed double brick walls to hold back the earth, planting level beds behind the walls. The brick was painted white to reflect those of the house. By building the walls, the landscape architects provided extra driveway space for the owners and turned an ugly slope into an attractive planting bed. Contractor was again Vielhauer.

Marinites Take Up An Old English Game

Stance And Concentration Are The Secrets Of Dart Throwing

By DON KEOWN

An ocean and a continent away from Plymouth, England, where he lives and serves as a police officer, Richard Willis looked around him and observed: "I feel right at home here."

He was in the London Arms on Miracle Mile in San Anselmo.

THE AUTHENTICITY that so impressed the visitor from England stems partially from the decor of sandblasted, walnut paneling, bottled windows, and oaken bar, shelving and doors.

It comes, too, from the clientele, many of them speaking in clipped English accents, with a Scottish burr or with Irish brogue, seated at the bar, ordering from Johnson's huge stock of British beers and ales, or discussing cricket scores.

BUT MORE than anything what makes the Britisher feel most at home in the London Arms is probably its two well-used dartboards.

Willis, formerly constable and police inspector, now senior court bailiff, could easily imagine himself back in Plymouth as he watched the players throwing for the elusive triple-20 or triple-19.

Darts and dartboards are always available to the London Arms customers.

BUT IT IS on Monday and Wednesday nights that the activity hits its peaks.

Monday nights are "knockout contest" nights, with individual competing against individual on a challenge basis, and with the ultimate winner receiving a prize — perhaps a cribbage board or a drinking mug.

Wednesday evenings, starting at 8:30 o'clock, see the most serious competition — Marin County Darts Association league play. Simultaneously, there will be association matches under way in two other Marin establishments with dart facilities — MacArthur's in downtown San Anselmo and the Drake Club in Fairfax.

London Arms and MacArthur's each field six four-member teams, the Drake Club sponsors two.

BLUE ROCK INN of Larkspur expects to join the sponsor-host establishments when the new fall season begins in September, to run until about Christmas time.

Don Johnson estimates that about 60 per cent of the dart throwers on his teams are British-born. The other two sponsors have a somewhat smaller percentage from the United Kingdom.

Don't the Britishers have a distinct advantage over Americans in dart throwing?

JACK PADBURY of Mill Valley, London-born president of the Marin County Darts Association, demonstrates the favored stance of the experienced dart thrower. The right foot is forward and the weight on it, as the thrower leans forward slightly and sights, preparatory to the overhand throw. The scene is the London Arms pub on Miracle Mile, San Anselmo, where Padbury is a team member.

Flying Darts And Flowing Ale In Marin

NOT NECESSARILY, says Johnson. He points out that the leading individual thrower in the Marin County Dart Association to date this season is American-born Carl Jenkins.

Individuals begin their match with a total of 301 points each — and aim at zero, subtracting from rather than adding to their scores.

BUT BEFORE the player can even begin to reduce his point total, he must hit "a double" to get into the game.

It is no great rarity for one player to win the game before his opponent has even hit the double that permits him to start deducting points from the 301 beginning total.

WINNING, HOWEVER, is not simply a matter of massing 301 points, once the first double has been hit.

The victor must accumulate an even 301 points. And he must complete his game with a double. Thus, with a score of 20, he can win only by sending his dart into the 10-point zone in the double stripe, a target three-eighth inch by two inches. With a 16 score, only a double-eight will win. Once he reaches two, the score cannot be further reduced except by hitting the double-one that gives him victory.

After getting into the game with a double, the player, to the surprise of the uninitiated spectator, will not proceed to aim at the red center bullseye, a half inch in diameter and worth 50 points.

INSTEAD, HE will probably throw at the 20 zone and the triple band — a smaller circle inside the double band. Now he is throwing at a target three-eighth inch by one and a quarter inch. But if he hits it, he is awarded 60 points. An arrow above in the 20 zone, but outside the triple band, is worth only the 20, unless it strays still higher into the double band for 40 points. Yet a bit higher and he earns no points at all.

Those dart veterans who do not aim at the 20-zone at the top of the board will throw, instead, at the 19-zone and its triple band at the bottom of the board.

THIS, THE veterans explain, is because some find it easier to hit a target low on the board. This is especially true of women. And a 57-point total is almost as good as 60.

Jack Padbury of Mill Valley, London-born industrial designer with H. Koch & Son and current president of the Marin County Darts Association, answers:

"A GOOD, experienced dart thrower can usually hit the triple-20 or triple-19 about once out of 12 throws. A few of our best may average as high as one-out-of-eight throws."

Padbury has been throwing darts since age 14 when he was first admitted to a London pub.

"At that time you could go into pubs and drink beer at 14," he explains.

PADBURY continues: "At that time, the darts were thrown at an old oaken board that was soaked in water each night for softening."

Today's dartboards are made of pig bristles.

Padbury has been taking aim and letting fly at dartboards now for 30 years. Has he improved any?

He smiles: "Well, I still have my good days and my bad days." But he finds that regular practice does help. After a layoff, it takes him a while to regain his form.

THE TWO BIG things in dart throwing, he says, are stance and concentration.

The proper stance, Padbury advises, is the one in which you feel most comfortable and natural. Most prefer to stand with right foot forward, toe on line and weight on that right foot. Usually, there is a slight lean forward, and the throw is made with the elbow providing the momentum.

"Never bring the dart back behind your ear as you make the overhand throw," Padbury recommends.

MOST DART throwers, however, have their own distinctive moves.

"They tell me I do a little bit of calypso when I throw," Padbury says.

As for concentration:

Padbury says he handles it this way: "Before I throw, I hold the dart out in front of me. I stare at the spot I want to hit, and I imagine the dart going into it. You sort of 'think' the dart in."

PADBURY ADDS that he prefers to hold the dart somewhat closer to its point than do most players. Balance is the thing.

Some throw fast and straight, others lob the dart. "But you shouldn't throw too hard because it ruins your accuracy."

Darts come in three weights. They have brass heads with steel spikes that are removable

A WELL-USED dartboard at the London Arms, in San Anselmo, attests to the popularity of the sport at that pub. The dart in the 20-zone at top is also in the triple band, worth 60 points. The lower dart is in the double band and 16 zone, worth 32 points. And the third dart collects 18 points, having missed the double and triple circles. (Independent - Journal photos by Jim Kean)

THIS CLOSE-UP of dart thrower Jack Padbury's hand shows the grip he uses on the dart. Balance is the important thing. Padbury says he holds the dart somewhat closer to its tip than do many of the players. The throw is overhand, and largely from the elbow. (Independent-Journal photos by Jim Kean)

Pub Without Its Dartboards Is Not A Pub

JOHNSON SAYS he has never known a dart head to be damaged, but he keeps dart sharpeners on hand. And the turkey feather flights are replaced every two to three weeks by the busier throwers.

Like the baseball pitcher with his rosin bag, some dart players use the chalk with which score is kept upon a blackboard to coat their hand lightly before making their throw.

THE PIG BRISTLE dartboards at the London Arms usually last about three months. By then, the bending of the fine, closely meshed wires has caused the colors to fade. Boards can be re-dyed, but it is generally more satisfactory, Johnson says, to buy replacements.

The London Arms keeps "house darts" for its customers. Generally, however, the regulars, like bowlers with their bowling balls, have their own personal darts which they keep in cases at the pub.

SINCE THE London Arms is a restaurant that serves no hard liquor, only beers and wines, children can and do enjoy the pastime there.

As for the women, at present two are good enough for membership on the London Arms teams. And Carol Borgens is among the top five individuals.

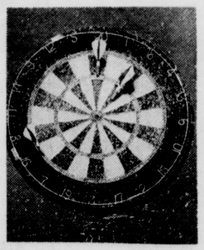
ON A WEDNESDAY night, competition opens with a team game between the two opposing foursomes. Then follow four individual games pairing members of the rival teams. And then a closing second team match. Total points for the night decide the evening's winning team.



Pewter mugs for beer or ale seem to be as much a part of the game as darts and boards. Most of the players keep their personal mugs at the pub.

A MUCH LARGER assortment of British and Australian beer is available in bottles.

There are calls for a "lager and lime" (a Scottish lager with lime juice), a "shandy" (ale and lemonade) and, of course, "ha'-and-ha'."

Johnson does keep a couple of American beers on hand. But from the dart enthusiasts, there are few calls for these.

DART THROWING apparently whets the appetite for food as well, and the players provide a brisk business for the London Arms kitchen with its several kinds of fish and chips, its Cornish pasties and its meat pies.

The English atmosphere in the pub becomes all the more pronounced after dart throwing ends on a Wednesday night, and the dartboards get a rest while the customers gather around pianist Mrs. Walter Ingham and the piano for a songfest of English tunes.

Don Johnson purchased the London Arms in March of this year, from Ted Wood. The pub gets its name from the coat of arms of the city of London, displayed on its walls and elsewhere.

THE MARIN County Dart Association had already been in existence for a year, its competitors vying for a trophy cup provided by the Bass Ale Co. of England, and for other awards.

Johnson, American born, first came into contact with darts while in England during World War II. He first played in Australia while still in service.

An unabashed Anglophile, Johnson says it was the English atmosphere, including the dartboards, that won him over to the London Arms.

THE TOPS OF his tables provide patrons with chessboards. And cribbage and shove a ha'-penny boards are available from the bar for further amusements.

"We try to make things as British as possible," he says. "There seems to be a deepening of interest in the British way-of-life in this country right now."

And, if you can believe court bailiff Richard Willis, there is no more authentic reflection of life in Britain to be found in Her Majesty's ex-colonies than in the pub on Miracle Mile where the darts fly fast, the ale flows freely, and the pasties taste delicious.

Skiing In Summer? You Can If You Visit New Zealand

There The Season Is Just Beginning To Hit Its Peak

In August, the Marin ski enthusiast can only dream of the winter past, or the season yet to come.

That is, unless he's a long distance traveler.

The real ski addict can head for New Zealand. There the ski season doesn't begin until July. And it continues into October.

THE COMPACT South Pacific country has some 20 designated ski areas, of which Mount Ruapehu on the North Island and Coronet Peak on the South Island are the most popular.

Skiers can don swim suits under their ski togs and ride the chairlift to within easy range of the summit. There they can climb the remaining height on skis, shed their outer garments and plunge into the always pleasantly warm, gently steaming, snow-encircled crater lake.

AFTER DRYING in the sun, they can dress and take off on the long, exciting downhill run home.

A special attraction on South Island is the fleet of ski planes that substitute for tows and lifts and carry the sportsmen over some of the world's most striking scenery into the heart of virgin snowfields for a day's fun.

SKIERS TAKE A swimming break in the snowbound but steaming waters of a lake cupped in the crater of a mildly active volcano on New Zealand's North Island. It is located atop 9,175-foot Mount Ruapehu Tongariro National Park.

Traffic To Europe Hitting Record Pace

Despite recent conflict and continued international tensions in Southeast Asia and the Middle East, world tourism promises to establish new travel records this year with as many as three million Americans traveling abroad.

A report by the American Society of Travel Agents notes that passport applications and departures by United States citizens during the first six months of 1967 set a new high — particularly for European-bound vacationers.

The conflict in the Middle East is now optimistically viewed as only a temporary check to travel to the Eastern Mediterranean area — and, unless there is a resumption of conflict, it will have only a limited effect on European tourism this summer and fall.

As the heartland of world tourism, Europe witnessed the arrival of 95 million tourists during 1966 — which represents 74.6 per cent of the total worldwide arrivals. Europe's total revenue from tourism was placed at 8.12 billion dollars in foreign exchange earnings.

These totals represent a gain of 12 per cent over total earnings in 1955 and a gain of 11 per cent over the total arrivals in 1965. While 1,525,000 Americans traveled to Europe and the Mediterranean last year to spend 920 million dollars, the vast bulk of Europe's traffic and earnings was generated by vacationing Europeans — not Americans.

Recent figures on the volume of passport applications note substantial increases over the same period of 1966: for January, 1967 there was a 21 per cent increase in applications and a 14 per cent increase in actual departures; for February, an 8 per cent increase in applications; and in March, a 10 per cent increase.

Estimates of actual citizen departures to Europe were up 14 per cent for both January and February 1967, and 19 per cent in March. Estimates for April note a possible 11 per cent increase and for May a very substantial 16 per cent increase.

Departures for this summer range from 10 to 20 per cent over the comparable period in 1966.

For the first time in history Britain replaced France as American tourists' favorite vacation area in 1966. Over 750,000 United States citizens visited the United Kingdom and spent 160 million dollars.

Overall, Great Britain attracted an estimated 3,160,000 visitors who spent 557 million dollars. Anticipation runs high that during 1967 as many as 3.6 million visitors will travel in the United Kingdom, with earnings in excess of 574 million dollars — a 14 per cent increase in the total number of visitors.

Europeans War Against Litterbugs As Debris Mounts

By MURRAY J. BROWN
UPI Travel Editor

For years, Americans traveling abroad and Europeans visiting the United States had assumed the litterbug was a peculiarly, if not exclusively, American insect. Foreign cities, roads, parks, beaches and other recreational areas were spick-and-span as compared to our own.

But times have changed, alas. The litterbug has become as much a pest overseas as in the United States.

Keep America Beautiful Inc., which has been spearheading the war against littering in the United States for years, reports it has been receiving increasing appeals from foreign organizations on how to combat the litterbug.

ANTI-LITTER GROUPS in 12 foreign countries recently spot checked by KAB were unanimous in reporting litterbugs were a growing problem. Rising standards of living and the growth of disposable packaging were listed as the main reasons.

Covered by the KAB survey were Australia, Bermuda, Canada, Costa Rica, Denmark, England, India, Japan, the Netherlands, Sweden, West Germany and Venezuela.

The survey disclosed that overseas litter fighters, like those in the United States, agree the best way to cope with the threat is through programs of public education coupled with adequate litter-disposal facilities and enforcement of anti-littering laws.

PUBLIC EDUCATION includes use of posters, press, radio and television. In the British Isles, posters appeal to natives and tourists alike to "Keep Britain Tidy." Sweden takes a more direct approach, a poster which exclaims "Ugh, What Pigs!" Germany points out that littering costs the taxpayer unnecessary sums of money — a favorite theme of U.S. litter fighters.

Nine foreign countries in the survey have laws against littering but are generally less strict than the United States. In Sweden, for example, the size of the fine depends on the offender's earnings. But a conviction also can result in a jail sentence of up to six months. In Bermuda, the fine can run as high as $280; in Canada, up to $500.

CONVICTION ON a littering charge in the United States can cost up to $500 in California, Missouri, New Jersey, Ohio, West Virginia and Georgia. Penalties also include imprisonment.

For the most part, however, the survey disclosed that, as in the United States, litter laws overseas are seldom enforced. The survey revealed that men outnumber women litterbugs by a five-to-three ratio. An Australian health officer said women are "just more conscious about litter than men."

THE AMOUNT of rubbish disposed of annually by the average citizen varies widely throughout the world. North Americans lead — KAB estimates the average American and Canadian citizen produces about 1,000 pounds of trash a year, with a depressingly large amount ending up as litter.

It was generally agreed that parks, forests, beaches and other recreational areas suffer most at the hands of the careless or unthinking visitor. But the area most cited in the survey as being the worst litter problem is the city streets.

Exceptions were noted in Sweden, Denmark and Bermuda where country roads and highways are reported getting the heaviest litter accumulations.

SEVERAL COUNTRIES listed the growth in tourism as a major reason for the increased littering. However, nearly 70 per cent of the litter fighters answering the KAB questionnaire placed the lion's share of the blame on local residents.

That is no comfort to the American who takes his family to the country or shore for a vacation and finds the beauty of nature has been despoiled by a litterbug.

A GUIDE TO OUR PARKS

"The Goodyear Guide to State Parks: Region 2" will be of special interest to Californians, since it covers our own state.

Prepared by Howard N. and Lucille L. Sloane and published by Crown, it offers detailed information not only on state parks but national parks, historic sites, forests and other recreational areas of California, Hawaii, Oregon Washington and Alaska.

Facilities, the natural life, geology and geography, climate, history, fees and regulations are some of the subjects given concise coverage.

There are photographs, too, some of them familiar sights to Marinites, in the softcover 298-page book sponsored by Goodyear and its dealers as a guide for low-cost vacations and outings. The book sells for $1.95.

The Sharing Of A Discovery

By DON KEOWN

The discovery of a new spy novel of exceptional merit by an unknown author is very much like stumbling in some hidden alley upon a quaint little restaurant of gourmet quality, or happening upon some unheralded but immensely talented singer in a coffee house or club who, you are convinced, will some day be another Sinatra.

You immediately want to share your find and its enjoyment with others.

In that spirit, we direct your attention to "The Uncommitted Man" by R. E. Pickering.

Astonishingly, this is a first novel. But the writing is on par with that being done by any of the masters of this deservedly popular genre.

It begins in Vienna and with a definite "The Third Man" mood. Dick Phillips, a young Englishman who once lived there, has returned to the old Austrian capital in search of his runaway wife —a beautiful woman of mysterious background.

Soon, Phillips is up to his ears in intrigue and danger. The scene shifts to behind the Iron Curtain where Phillips, the target of a manhunt, strives desperately to make his way through unfriendly territory back to the safety of the West.

It is a well-plotted, splendidly-written spy thriller, played out against a fascinating background by people who are both real and interesting. Buy it, then settle back for an evening of pleasure and escape from the day-to-day world that may be far less hazardous than Dick Phillips', but is also far less exciting.

IF PICKERING'S dandy yarn has sharpened your appetite for still more superior suspense reading, track down a copy of Francis Clifford's "Spanish Duet" published some months ago.

Set in Spain, these differ greatly from "The Uncommitted Man" and from each other.

"Time Is An Ambush" has many of the elements of a standard mystery. But it is also a character study of considerable depth, and a denunciation of the iron-fisted cruelty of the totalitarian police state.

An English writer living in Spain falls in love with the wife of an arrogant German tourist. When the German is slain, the Englishman falls under suspicion. The story, like "The Naked Runner" which established Clifford as one of the "names" among the suspense novelists, has international overtones. But it is less complicated and seems to us a smoother, better story than "Runner," even though it was written earlier.

CHEESE AND CHEESE COOKERY by T. A. Layton, World Publishing Co. and The Wine and Food Society Ltd., 254 pages, $10.

"The Trembling Earth" is more novella than novel, and is a far cry from the espionage or mystery tale. It is a most perceptive probe of human behavior under stress, and of the role faith can play in mankind's adjustment to conditions of extreme tension.

Three men — a priest, an aged assistant and a youth — labor against time and danger to prevent an earthquake-loosened bell from falling and ruining the village church. It is a most impressive display of writing ability.

Clifford's "The Naked Runner," incidentally, is now on the motion picture screen with Frank Sinatra in the starring role.

A PERFECT gift choice for the gourmet is "Cheese and Cheese Cookery" by T. A. Layton, co-published by Britain's The Wine and Food Society Ltd. in association with The World Publishing Co. of this country.

It is one of those rare books in the field of food that deserve special ranking above and beyond the cookbook status.

Layton, now a wine connoisseur but who first achieved fame in gastronomical circles with a small London restaurant that sparked a resurgence of interest in his nation's wonderful old country cheese, has put together a fascinating and comprehensive book.

He opens with a general discussion of and tribute to cheeses, and follows with an alphabetized roster of the world's noteworthy cheeses, their histories, their attributes and other lore. A chapter is then given over to wines and their relationship to cheeses.

There follow three sections of cheese recipes: The elaborate creations of classic chefs from the past, the somewhat less fancy but hardly simple dishes of 20th century chefs (most of them Londoners), and finally a larger and less fancy collection of cheese recipes from fine cookbooks and other sources.

Tables on cookery terms and measures, wine vintage ratings and the best months for various fresh fruits and vegetables make up the back of the book.

The color plate illustrations include tempting arrays of the finest cheeses of 10 principal cheese-producing lands.

This is part of an ambitious publishing program being undertaken by The Wine and Food Society in the gastronomical field, and it represents an inspired handling of a subject that appeals to virtually every food buff. Fortunately not only is Layton knowledgeable on his subject, but he also has the knack for writing in a style that is both entertaining and informative. And his efforts have been accorded the loving treatment they deserve by designer, printer, lithographer and publisher.

FAWCETT IS publishing a revised paperback edition of "Edgar Cayce: Mystery Man of Miracles," Joseph Millard's book about the famed mystic.

BALLANTINE'S publishing list for next winter includes as a paperback original "The Essential Lenny Bruce," culled from the tapes of performances by the late comedian and satirist.

TWO MORE triumphs have been added by the Sierra Club to its superb Exhibit Format Series—"Kauai and the Park Country of Hawaii" by author-photographer Robert Wenkam, and "Glacier Bay: The Land and the Silence" with text and illustrations by Dave Bohn. The Hawaiian book offers a dazzling display in color and in black and white of the beauty of the scenic lands of Kokee-Napali, accompanied by a fervent appeal for its protection through national park status. Wenkam recounts the damage this magnificent heritage has already sustained through exploitation and carelessness, and his photographs argue eloquently for a halt to that wastage and the conservation of that yet not lost. The photographs in the book on Alaska's Glacier Bay tends less to the colorful, more to the dramatic. Included, too, are some excellent historical prints. Bohn traces that history, describes its advance to national monument status, and points up conservationists' misgivings about the adequacy of the protection that has been afforded this icy wilderness. Both books, priced at $25 each, meet the very high standard the Sierra Club and editor David Brower have insisted upon for this series —big books, beautifully assembled and bound, expertly written, illustrated and designed. Top photo, from "Kauai and the Park Country of Hawaii" shows a koa forest of Kokee. Bottom photo, from "Glacier Bay: The Land and the Silence" is of Reid Glacier.

Sleuths & Suspense

A town in the grip of homegrown fascism is a theme that pops up from time to time in suspense fiction. Here it is again.

Journalist Hall Masson returns from overseas to look into the violent deaths of his war hero brother and young bride. The town of Shelton, however, seems strangely hostile to his intentions. Masson cannot be sure whether the citizens are protecting his brother's memory, or whether their motives are something more sinister and political.

The author does not succeed in making the story wholly plausible. But beyond this certain artificiality there is still sufficient mystery and action to hold the reader's attention.

Fragments Of The Past

CATAL HUYUK, A Neolithic Town in Anatolia, by James Mellart; IFE in the History of West African Sculpture, by Frank Willet, McGraw-Hill, each $9.95. Reviewed by Jeff Greer.

Probably there is no one who hasn't wondered about his ancestors. Who were they? What did they do? When? How did they live?

These two books supply brilliant, colorful fragments of the answers. They are part of the publisher's series called "New Aspects of Archaeology," based on field research since World War II and cast in the atomic age light of scientists' ability to pin down the "whens" of life through Carbon 14 dating.

IFE deals mainly with the discovery of Nigerian art objects. Many readers now know what impact the wood and ivory carvings and bronzes from West Africa had on modern art; few have had a chance to see photos of the actual sculptures that excited the French and later other nations' artists.

Author Willett now is professor of African art at Northwestern University; he earlier was archaeologist to the Nigerian government and curator for several English museums.

He traces the history of West African civilization — through its art — to several hundred years before Christ. He tells how a people that lived in crude mud huts in forest clearings, without written language or machinery, could produce exciting terra cotta, stone and bronze sculptures of extreme sophistication and artistic merit.

"Catal Huyuk" deals with discoveries in a fascinating mound on a river bank in the highlands of what is now Turkey. Beneath its surface, archaeologists have found at least nine different levels of a city densely covering 32 acres, and dating back a full 9,000 years!

Its people were possessors of a highly developed religious tradition using much artistic expression.

Although both books are filled with satisfying illustrations of long-forgotten artistic discoveries, the volume on Catal Huyuk was more pleasing to this reader as a rounded report not only of the scientists' explorations, but as a picture of the dawn age civilization long before Babylonia or Egypt.

The African volume is somehow sketchy and too like the notes of a museum-minded collector. Perhaps its author assumes too much that the reader will have grounded himself in the field with other works on African history.

Illustrations in both books are magnificent; they should impress not only the archaeology buff but also the artist and layman.

Other volumes in the series are in preparation on Petra, Southern Arabia and Jerusalem.

Senator From Hawaii Has Story To Tell

JOURNEY TO WASHINGTON by Sen. Daniel K. Inouye with Lawrence Elliott, Prentice-Hall, 297 pages, $5.95. Reviewed by Price Hall.

"Journey to Washington" could have been a rags to riches tearjerker were it not for the delicate touch of Lawrence Elliott and probably the public relations sense of the senator from Hawaii.

Starting with the opening account of a family tragedy in Japan which led the Inouyes to Hawaii in the first place, there is enough drama to satisfy a Russian—except that the good guy wins. The average West Coaster who lived through the Pearl Harbor tragedy from a comfortable distance will be interested in the first-hand account of the day-to-day events of that period as told by a man with a keen memory and a deep sense of loyalty to his country.

The senator's frantic need to join the army and prove this loyalty is interlaced with enough humor to make it a fine piece of writing. The role of the Americans of Japanese ancestry in World War II has been told before but by the time you reach this point in the account you are now proudly following the day-to-day dangers of a friend.

This is a highly recommended modern adventure yarn.

The one flaw in this book is not at all the fault of the senator or his collaborator. Three forewords written by President Lyndon B. Johnson, Vice-President Hubert Humphrey and Sen. Mike Mansfield add nothing but misdirection. The President says "This is a wonderful country." The Senate leader says, "This country is good to Asians," and the Vice-President says, "The same thing happened to me, only in South Dakota," and they all wrote about themselves.

Senator Inouye says, "I am a good American who has worked hard and am happy with my success." His friends in Washington say, "The senator is a good Japanese-American whom we have rewarded."

Flowers From The Past That Still Delight Us

ROSES OF YESTERDAY by Dorothy Stemler, Hallmark, 55 pages, $3.50. Reviewed by Maxine Keown.

This small book achieves perfectly the high standard of taste and charm one has come to expect from Hallmark Cards Inc. in everything that enlightened firm endeavors.

It is a tribute to mankind's favorite flower, the rose, and especially to those varieties that have delighted him in centuries past.

It begins with an introduction in which author James Gould Cozzens recalls nostalgically his childhood enjoyment of his mother's rose garden. Mrs. Stemler then contributes an essay on the history of man's love affair with the rose.

The remaining pages are devoted to 18 exquisite watercolors by the noted Japanese artist Nanae Ito of some of the most beautiful of the old roses. The work is absolutely enchanting. Brief explanatory captions accompany each painting.

The artist found the models for her paintings in the garden of Mrs. Stemler near Watsonville, famed among rosarians as the colorful preserve of many of the greatest roses of the past. From the Eglantine or English sweetbriar rose and the ancient Autumn Damask (called the Rose of Castile in California) through the timeless American Beauty down to the Mermaid, a 1918 introduction but with roots reaching back into early Asia, Miss Ito has recreated their delicate beauty with such realism that one seems to experience their fragrance as well as their lovely hues.

Table Setting And Flower Guide Updated

THE ART OF TABLE SETTING AND FLOWER ARRANGEMENT by Sylvia Hirsch, Crowell, 168 pages, $7.95. Reviewed by Maxine Keown.

This is a new and expanded edition of a book that first appeared in 1962 and which has already enjoyed a wide acceptance from women interested in the fine art of gracious dining and entertaining.

To her original work, Mrs. Hirsch, lecturer, teacher and authority, has added chapters that reflect more recent interests and developments, including the use of space as an element of design.

Simplicity and functionalism remain her basic precepts, but at the same time she urges the full utilization of foreign styles and varied art forms.

WILLIAM ANDERSON SCOTT, pioneer San Francisco Bay Area preacher who left his imprint upon early day Marin history, is the subject of a biography written by Dr. Clifford Merrill Drury, former San Francisco Theological Seminary professor in San Anselmo.

The Courage Of A Pioneer Pastor

WILLIAM ANDERSON SCOTT, NO ORDINARY MAN by Clifford Merrill Drury, Arthur H. Clark Co., 336 pages, $6.50. Reviewed by Bryce W. Anderson.

When the San Francisco Committee of Vigilance was revived in 1856, a dozen of its leaders—including William Tell Coleman, its head—were members of the Calvary Presbyterian Church. Yet the only minister in San Francisco who dared to attack the committee from the pulpit was Rev. William Anderson Scott, Calvary's pastor.

For that, Scott was hanged in effigy — as he was again five years later for his pro-southern views after the outbreak of the Civil War.

Most of his Vigilante parishioners (though not Coleman) signed a memorial condemning the first effigy hanging. Fear for his life forced Scott to take his family into voluntary exile in England after the second.

Few of the events in Scott's 71 years were so dramatic as these. But these serve to illustrate the uncompromising courage that marked him as "no ordinary man."

Nor did his exile from San Francisco prevent his returning in 1870, to serve another 15 years as pastor of a new church, St. John's Presbyterian — and be largely instrumental in establishing San Francisco Theological Seminary. When the seminary was moved to San Anselmo, one of its first two buildings was named in his honor: Scott Library Hall, one of the "castles" which remain the main and most striking features of the campus.

Clifford Merrill Drury, former San Rafael resident and long-time professor of church history at the seminary, has told the Reverend Scott's story in "William Anderson Scott, No Ordinary Man." He has researched it thoroughly, and related it meticulously.

This is not a "popular biography." Neither is it an intimate biography. It has little to say of Scott's family life. After his Tennessee boyhood, it is concerned with his role as a churchman.

Drury is an admirer of Scott, and his account is partisan. But he has not glossed over any of the disputes — from Henry Clay to secession — that raged around the courageous "Old School" Presbyterian preacher. He has been as conscientious as he has meticulous.

KYOTO — Art Blakey and the Jazz Messengers — Riverside 9493:

A number of jazz groups have toured Japan lately and have been influenced musically by their visits. Horace Silver's Japanese LP was especially enjoyable, and here now is drummer Blakey's effort.

There are five tunes on the album, and the two on the second side are Japan-oriented The second of these is "Kyoto," and was written by Blakey's trumpet man Freddie Hubbard.

It has a three-quarter-time beat and fine solo by Hubbard. Blakey's brother Wellington is heard as a good blues vocalist on "Wellington's Blues" on the first side. Tenor sax man Wayne Shorter has a number of solos also, and Cedar Walton's piano is an important foundation for the "sound" of the group.

Vocalist Tamiko Jones recorded the first vocal version of the theme to the French flick "A Man and a Woman" together with flutist Herbie Mann, and it is the first track on this new LP.

Tamiko's voice is very small and breathy somewhat like Astrud Gilberto's. The balance with the Mann group could be improved—frequently her voice is submerged in the sound of the group. One Jobim bossa nova tune is included in the 11 on the LP.

Other recent hits such as the Beatles "Day Tripper," and Bobby Hebb's "Sunny" are also here.

An interesting pop-jazz LP, even if one does have to strain a bit to hear Miss Jones.

FOREST FLOWER — Charles Lloyd at Monterey — Atlantic SD 1473:

Jazz fans who were at Monterey last year have been shouting for this LP for a long time. It preserves the exciting set of four tunes which tenor saxist and flutist Charles Lloyd gave at the Jazz Festival.

"Forest Flower" is the big event of the four, and has an almost hypnotic quality. Lloyd builds to climax after climax, and his pianist, Keith Jarrett, reaches into the piano strings a la John Cage for new and wilder sounds. The crowd goes wild over this.

Herbie Mann's almost endless output of LP's has been taking an interesting turn lately.

The recent influence of music of the Middle East on jazz and rock music has not yet produced a truly great new style, but this LP is sure to be recognized as one of the most successful steps on the road to such a style.

The personnel vary widely over the nine tracks; among those of the Middle Eastern persuasion are Chick Ganimian, oud; Mohamed Elakkad, zither; Hachig Kazarian, clarinet, and Moulay Ali Hafid, percussion.

This is not at all far out, but neither is it a gimmick. It is just very enjoyable modern jazz with a Middle East feeling. Bravo Mann!

HERE COMES THE WHISTLEMAN — Roland Kirk — Atlantic SD 3007:

It would be difficult for even the newcomer to jazz to miss hearing Roland Kirk. Like Charles Lloyd and Art Blakey already mentioned, he is reaching a whole new audience of hard rock fans because of the tremendous rhythmic impact of his "soul" music.

Having now passed the danger period of being considered only a weirdo because of his ability to play up to four instruments at once, Kirk has been turning out a series of stimulating LP's.

His pianists on these seven tracks are both Jackie Byard and Lonnie Smith. Charles Crosby is his regular drummer, and the unusual humming technique of bassist Major Holley is one of the most delightful things about the group.

The title tune makes use of Roland's siren, which is inserted for excitement here and there in some numbers. He introduces (verbally) both this and "I Wished on the Moon" in an interesting way.

POET'S CORNER

FAITH

He wept for the thing that could not be;
And called out to God: "Have pity on me!"
"Oh! God of love, in heaven above,
If you love me, hear my plea!"

God wept as the prayer filled the heavenly air;
And, deep in His misery,
He listened above to the child of His love
For the thing that should not be.

So the prayer was left unanswered,
As far as the man could conceive;
As he turned away, he was heard to say:
"No more shall I believe!"

Take Steps To Curb Big Sound At Home

In these days of rock bands and high-powered stereo sets, many a man's thoughts turn to peace and quiet and sound reduction.

"Do-it-yourself enthusiasts can handle several projects quickly and inexpensively that reduce noise in the home," explains Charles E. Enyart, director of sound conditioning for The Celotex Corp., a subsidiary of Jim Walter Corp.

Probably the most effective way to reduce noise in the home is through the installation of an acoustical tile ceiling. "And this is a snap," explained Enyart. "A room 12 by 15 feet can be covered in a single weekend for less than $50."

MODERN ACOUSTICAL tile absorbs up to 70 per cent of the sound striking its surface. These ceilings come in attractive designs and they're easy to clean. Highly washable plastic coated tile is ideal for such areas as the kitchen.

"A wall can become a more effective sound absorber if it is supplemented with a sound deadening board," says Enyart.

Four by eight panels of half-inch fiber-board material are placed against the wall and then nails are driven into the studs. The board can be covered with gypsum wallboard of pre-finished hardboard paneling.

"With more and more multi-level homes, sound transmission between levels of the home is becoming more of a problem," says Enyart. This noise can be substantially reduced by sound conditioning the ceiling on the lower level.

FURRING STRIPS are nailed to the existing ceiling, then sound deadening board is nailed to the furring. This is then covered with gypsum wallboard.

Other tips for reducing noise include thin plastic foam strips glued around door casings (this eliminates slam noises), lining air conditioning ducts with one-half inch glass wool (this muffles noise transmitted from the power unit), and installing cushioning devices on water lines (this quiets the sound of flowing water).

A HANDY home workshop can provide countertop space, cabinets and storage areas. A practical idea is to install storage walls of perforated hardboard panels, which can be used to hold shelves, tools and equipment.

Make First Job A Workshop

Anytime is the best time to start do-it-yourself projects around your home, but the best way to start is to set up your workshop.

Doing it yourself will provide a sense of personal accomplishment, help to keep repair bills down and even increase the value of your property.

Where should you set up your workshop? You'll want a place that's far enough out of the way so you can leave unfinished work lying around without messing up the house.

A BASEMENT or garage is usually best. In some cases, a heated attic will serve the purpose.

After you've acquired the basic tools, you'll need a place to store them. A tool chest is good, and so is a closet if there's one handy.

But even with these, you'll find it's a good idea to install perforated tempered hardboard paneling above the workbench or to panel an entire wall, so that frequently-used tools will be readily accessible.

You can hang any kind of tool on hooks set in the panel perforations. The paneling also accepts brackets to support shelves for nail and screw boxes or other small items.

SPECIAL HEAVY-DUTY fittings, ideal for hanging power tools, are also available. This type of space-saving storage puts all your equipment right at hand and helps keep the workshop neat.

Engineered to withstand dents, scuffs and scratches, rugged hardboard panels also stand up to fluctuating temperatures and humidity. They are easily worked with ordinary tools and can be cut, drilled or nailed like other wood products.

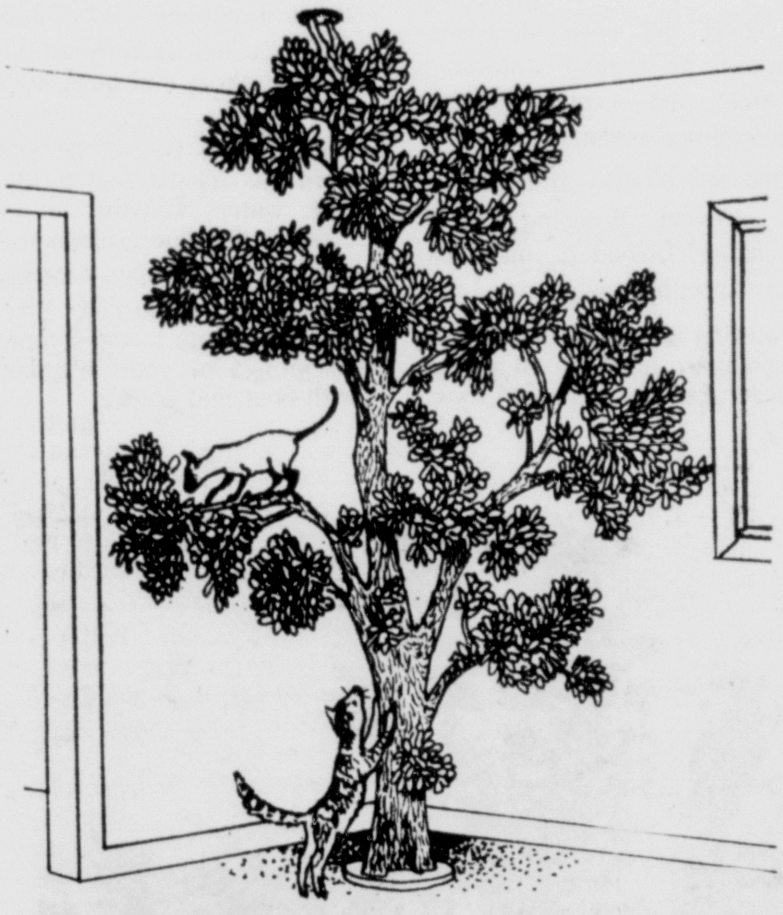
To install, just nail the panels to furring strips attached to the existing wall so there is clearance for the hooks between the panel and wall.

YOU CAN buy perforated tempered hardboard from your lumber dealer either in small sections or in four-by-eight-foot sheets. It comes unfinished and ready for painting or prefinished in woodgrain, colored or patterned surfaces.

Once you're introduced to the utility and good looks of perforated panels, you'll find that hardboard in various textures and designs lends itself to a variety of home improvement projects.

YOU MIGHT, for example, panel the family a room or finish off an attic with woodgrained hardboard, add an elegant touch to your bathroom with marbleized paneling or equip the garage with heavy duty perforated panels for efficient storage of garden equipment.

Bright Ideas



TREE LOVERS can bring a tree right into their homes. The idea is to obtain a dead tree, and provide artificial leaves for foliage. A round disc of plywood will make a base and the top should be fastened to the ceiling, with epoxy glue or a curtain-rod fixture, for steadiness. The tree can be placed in a corner or in the middle of a room, or can be used as a room divider.

"What Clothing Care Instructions Should I Give My Daughter?"

The Dept. of Home Economics of the National Education Assn. published an excellent booklet on this subject, "The Clothes We Wear." It was written by Dr. Dorothy Seigert Lyle, author, consultant, home economist and Director of Consumer Relations for the National Institute of Drycleaning. On clothing care, Dr. Lyle suggests:

1. Watch the pockets. Don't fill them to bulging. Take care your pen doesn't leak or lipstick smear and stain the fabric.

2. Choose jewelry carefully. Decorative pins and tie tacks can damage clothes. Some costume jewelry such as necklaces and tie bars causes fabric discoloration.

3. Look out for dusty, dirty seats, tables, and food counters.

4. Wash hands immediately after reading a newspaper or pulp magazine. Newsprint can stain your clothes.

5. Be careful around cars. Grease will stain and battery acid will eat your clothing. Avoid snagging and tearing clothing getting in or out of cars.

6. Protect clothing from cosmetics. Use dry deodorants. Place makeup cap over your head before putting on a garment. Don't apply lipstick until after you dress. Do not apply cologne or perfume directly to a garment. If you put on fingernail polish after dressing, protect your garment with a towel.

The Gardening Pages

THE HANDSOME abelia is a relative newcomer to California and Marin as a groundcover—but it is one that is gaining rapidly in favor and use. Its glossy foliage and summer-long bloom makes it the ideal choice for parking strips and for sunny banks. (Photo courtesy of the California Association of Nurserymen)

You Can Plant Food For Hummingbirds

There's nothing wrong with that. In fact, it's a dandy idea. But you should also plant some of the flowers upon which they feed. The hummingbird would far prefer to suck nectar from a natural source.

AND, NO DOUBT, it is better for him.

From the gardener's standpoint, many of these ornamental shrubs and vines would be well worth planting even if there was no such thing as a hummingbird. And now is a good time to start many of them.

The hummingbird's preference seems to be for flowers that hang face down — and for starters there is the fuchsia. It's in bloom at the nursery now, and can be transplanted easily in your garden.

Add some honeysuckle vines that are sure to lure the feathered busybodies. The Giant Burmese Honeysuckle might well be your first choice. There is no better vine for covering a wall trellis. It has large, glossy leaves and long, tubular flowers that look like what they are — giant honeysuckles.

Trumpet vine is also an attractive addition — for garden and for hummingbird. The brightest colors seem to appeal the most to the hummers, so choose the Scarlet Trumpet Vine. Its flowers are bright red with yellow throats in spring and early summer.

ALSO TRY THE flowering maple, an unusual and ornamental little shrub with maple-like leaves and bell-shaped flowers that hang face down.

The flowers can be orange, white, pink or yellow, but usually are orange-red. Hummingbirds love them. Nurserymen suggest you'll love them too.

Botanically the Giant Burmese Honeysuckle is offered as Lonicera hildebrandiana; Scarlet Trumpet Vine as Bignoniacherere and Phaedranthus bassaanatorius, flowering maple as Abutilon specisum.

The Parkway Problem

The parking strip between street and sidewalk is sort of a no-man's land in many Marin neighborhoods — a narrow and difficult-to-work area.

For those hardy souls who attempt to grow a lawn and keep it groomed, there are the added problems of foot traffic by those who "cut across" and of the roaming dogs. Every Marin area seems to have its quota and more of both.

Some resort to a paving or a rocking of the parking strip. Some simply resort to bare dirt.

BUT FOR THOSE who like greenery, these may seem more like surrender than solutions.

A better compromise might be a groundcover that presents fewer maintenance problems than grass, but which gives color and a feeling of coolness. There are even some that discourage weeds — and the dogs the neighbors won't keep at home.

THE OLD STANDBY is Tamarix Juniper, but you might want to check with your nurseryman on some of the newer spreadings junipers. The variety Silver Spreader seems to be ideal for a parkway. Another promising choice is the San Jose Juniper.

Ornamental strawberry makes an attractive, trim parkway planting. But it must have good soil.

Its white blooms and decorative fruit are visible through many months of the year, and in the fall its leaves often color up into rich autumnal tones. There are even some ornamental strawberries that produce edible fruit.

LESS IS KNOWN in Marin County about the Prostrate Abelia. But one is hearing more and more about it.

These are hailed as a highly useful ground-hugging family — excellent shrubs. New growth is tinged with red and the white blooms are in evidence for several months in the summer. There is no reason why they cannot be used to a greater extent in Marin in parkways and elsewhere as bank and groundcovers.

THERE ARE THE Rockspray Cotoneaster and the Rock Cootoneaster. The latter is taller than most of the possibilities mentioned previously.

Your nurseryman may have other fine suggestions as a groundcover for your parking strip if it is proving troublesome.

A CHECKLIST FOR GARDENERS OF MARIN

- A good fall crop of roses depends on regular watering, feeding, and spraying during the coming weeks.
- Stake and tie chrysanthemums to prevent drooping and breaking. Disbud if you want show-type blooms.
- Watering remains the most important job for Marin gardeners. Be sure to soak the garden thoroughly each time you water.
- Read directions carefully before using fertilizers. You can overdo it and burn lawns and plants.
- Use a weed control on your lawn this month, and fertilize and water heavily to encourage the true grasses.
- Clippings and other debris should not be burned. You'll only contribute to the summer discomfort of your neighbors with heat and smoke.

FOR A NARROW SPACE between home and sidewalk—on the sunny side of the house—the standby zinnia still can't be beat. A solid planting will give you a mass of late summer-autumn color, if you purchase your plants now at the nursery and transplant.

Euonymus Family Of Versatile Shrubs Serves Many Uses

Group Isn't Eye-Catching, But Forms Substantial Cover

Marin gardeners would do well to consider a little known shrub family, the euonymus clan, for ground or wall cover or as a border for flower beds.

There are more than a dozen different varieties and they all do well in the fairly warm sectors of Marin.

They must be planted away from coastal areas and damp sectors to avoid mildew.

Most gardeners have never heard of euonymus, despite the fact that it is one of the most substantial shrub families used in California landscaping.

IT ISN'T AS spectacular as flowering shrubs such as rhododendron or bottle brush, but there are tall, arching forms, creeping forms and diminutive varieties.

Both have handsome green leaves, with silvery white margins, and, as might be expected, the "queen" is more compact.

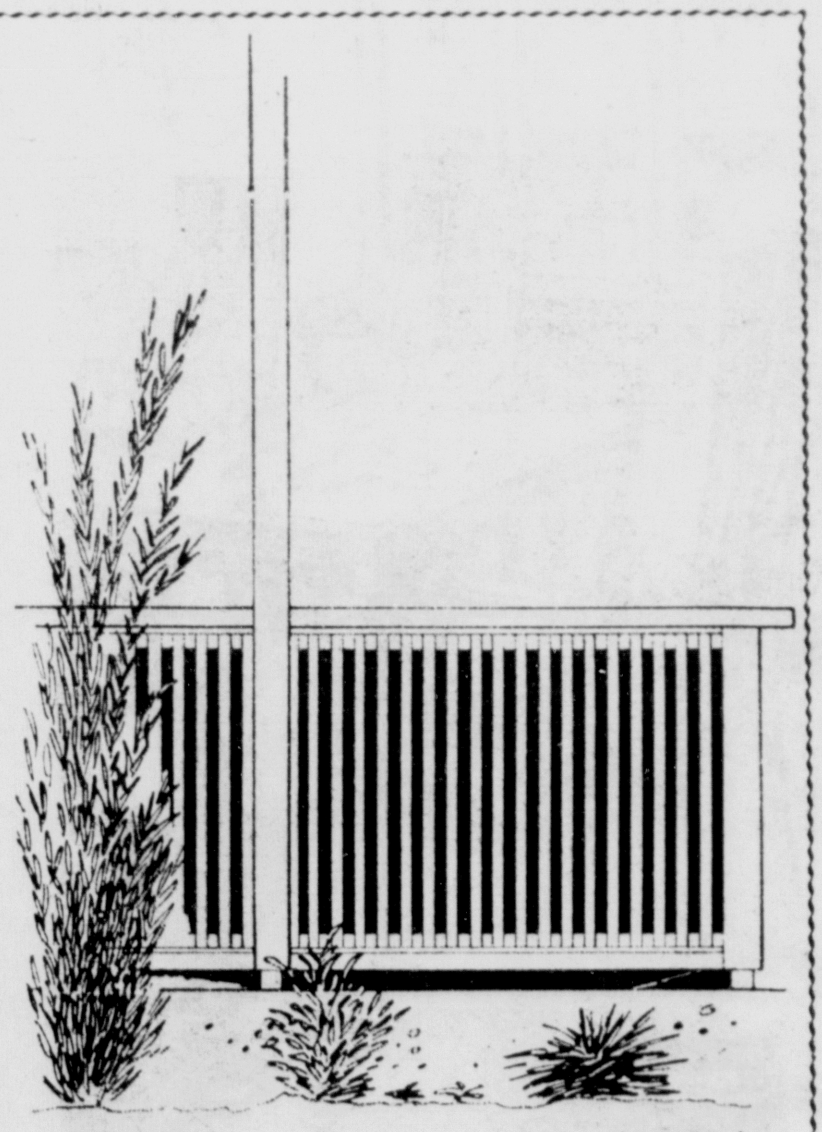
TWO OTHER examples of variegation are seen in the Golden Euonymus and in the Gold Spot Euonymus. These are highly popular with the few who know and grow them, compact shrubs ideal for a foundation, or, with proper handling, as a hedge.

The Boxleaf Euonymus is a demure little shrub with a formal look to it that compares with the formality of boxwood. It may be sheared to increase the formal appearance or merely grown as hedging material unpruned.

Among the prostrate forms, the variety Azusa makes excellent ground cover, as does the slightly more erect Purple Leaf Euonymus.

THOSE WHO have trouble pronouncing euonymus, which includes most gardeners, should try "ooh-on-i-mus" with the accent on the second syllable and the "ooh" with a nasal twant.

There are other varieties of the euonymus clan available, and it is best to view them at a local nursery, where you can consider the one that best meets your need.



CRISP-LOOKING pattern for low fence or railing can be constructed with one-by-two-inch boards set edge out between two-by-four rails. Short pieces of one-by-twos are used as spacers top and bottom between fence boards. Douglas fir, white fir or western red cedar can be used.

EASY AND RELAXED

Dean's Schedule: Golf Before Work

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Of all television stars none has it easier—or more relaxed—than Dean Martin.

His light-hearted hour of fun and games on Thursday nights takes exactly one day of his time. He strolls into the NBC Burbank studios in the morning after a round of golf and goes directly to his dressing room where he watches a monitor.

HE AND HIS pals sit around talking about everything and nothing as a stand-in walks through Dean's moves and fakes his songs.

Thereafter Dean does one rehearsal. An hour or two later he walks through the dress rehearsal. And that evening he does the show before a live audience.

Inside the visitor is greeted by soft beige carpeting and matching marble pillars at the far end of the living room which contains a full scale bar with leather stools. It also acts as a soda fountain for the youngsters.

Adjacent to the bar and living room, in one striking open area is a pool table, television set and stereo outfit which is a sort of family headquarters.

HIS ELDEST son, Craig, is married and lives in the San Fernando Valley. Daughters Claudia and Gail have moved into apartments, launching careers of their own. Still at home are Dena, 19; Dean Jr., 16; Ricci, 14; and Gina, 10.

Though Martin has built a reputation as a swinger and two-fisted drinker, it is surprising to learn that his idea of a rousing good evening is a night in front of the television set with his family and a few friends.

He shoots a little pool, listens to recordings, and generally goes to bed early—often he falls asleep with the television set flickering.

DEAN MARTIN
Stays loose

At the moment he is president of a new golf course under construction only five minutes from his home. Memberships are selling for $25,000.

Golf is Dino's passion. He plays every day if he can.

LIKE HIS buddy Frank Sinatra, Martin has convinced the producers of his movies to begin shooting at 10 a.m. or noon, allowing him to get in a round on the links before he goes to work.

It also allows him a leisurely breakfast and time enough to ride to Paramount or Columbia studios in one of his fleet of expensive sedans.

He makes three movies a year, more than most stars in his bracket, and unfailingly Dean can be found swinging a golf club between scenes. His trailer dressing room is a hangout for his cronies who exchange banter, have a few drinks and eat peanut butter sandwiches.

DEAN WEARS an expression of perpetual surprise. As if he didn't expect this much success in his life. But he wears it well.

Sober or otherwise he is a fast man with a quip and claims he hates to work. But for a multi-millionaire in the vicinity of 50, Martin works frequently and loosely, looking forward to the time when the only thing he has to work at is his backswing.

SYDNEY POITIER plays an ex-GI who develops a friendship with Lilia Skala, portraying Mother Maria, in the movie "Lilies of the Field," to be seen Thursday at 9 p.m. on Channels 5 and 10.
